Claude H. Taylor, aged 40, former well known resident of this city, was the victim of bullets fired by a man and woman, staging a holdup in the postoffice at Borger, Texas, Tuesday evening, according to information received here by relatives.

Details as to the manner in which he was shot and killed are lacking in minute detail, but indications are that Mr. Taylor met his death while at the post office seeking mail from members of his family residing here.

Information of meagre nature received here indicates that Mr. Taylor put up a struggle when the hold-up pair entered the postoffice and attempted to rob him.

PA NEW OBSERVES

An auto driver now-a-days has to have a good memory. After driving around down town for some blocks trying to find a place to park the car, it's a chore to remember where the machine was left when it comes time to return home, later in the evening.

Pa New sort of surprises that city council is in for a warm session on February 5, when the board of revision meets again for the second ward property owners. After the assessors went around and raised tax valuations on a lot of properties there were some 400 complaints at the recent meeting of the board of revision. Now council has taken a hand in the tax raising and booster valuations a lot more in many cases. We can foresee a warm session of the board on next Thursday. There is scant reason for the boosting that has been done in the second ward, in most cases.

Tomorrow night, in the Ben Franklin junior high auditorium, 115 more young men and women will become a part of the New Castle senior high school alumni. It's another graduation.

Postal employees at the local post-office have their eyes centered on Washington, D. C. these days. Right soon there will be action on the Kendall bill calling for a 4 hour week instead of 48. The House recently passed it and the Senate is to consider it shortly.

Observe that representatives of the water company here have placed electrographs at different places in the downtown streets to register the electrical conditions that exist. The electrolys is they call it, is tested every once in a while.

After a period of almost a week, during which the weather has been like spring, the temperature started to turn cold again today. There was a light fall of snow about 11 (Continued On Page Two)

In Bermuda Islands

(International News Service)
HAMILTON, Bermuda, Jan. 29.—The Earl of Chester and Lieutenant George Windsor, otherwise known as the Prince of Wales and Prince George, were on the high seas again today aboard the liner Oropesa, following an eight hour stopover here yesterday.

Their next stop will be at Havana on Sunday or Monday. It is unlikely, however, that the two royal princes will demark at the Cuban capital. From Havana they will proceed to Jamaica, thence through the Panama Canal and down the west coast of South America on their mission as ambassadors of British trade.

The heir to the British throne looked fatigued as he left here yesterday evening after a busy day.

Following an official welcome on ship board he had played a round of golf at the mid-ocean club, been the guest of honor at a reception to 600 Bermudians and American winter residents at Government house and reviewed a party of war veterans.

So keen was the prince to play the full eighteen hole round of golf that he passed up a regular luncheon, taking only a sandwich and a glass of beer instead.

(International News Service)
SCHAFFER, N. D., Jan. 29.—Storming the county jail here today a mob of 100 townsman seized Charles Bannon, 22-year-old confessed slayer of six persons, spirited the youth from his cell and lynched him.

The mob overpowered Sheriff F. A. Thompson and his deputy, Peter S. Hallan, but both officers refused to reveal the keys to the cell block. While one group of men held the two officers another brought timbers and battered in the cellhouse door and took young Bannon from his cell.

The crowd then took Bannon in one of eight automobiles and the cavalcade moved down the road two miles to a bridge where a noose was thrown over the superstructure and Bannon was hanged without further ceremony.

Youth Confesses.

Young Bannon had confessed killing six members of the A. E. Haven family, according to authorities. His father, James F. Bannon, was taken in custody following the youth's confession and although he is a prisoner at the jail the mob made no attempt to molest him.

(International News Service)
AKRON, O., Jan. 29.—On the judge's desk in Summit County criminal court near the twisted wreckage of an old coupe rested today the verdict of a jury which found Marshall W. Cornell, a former Chicago lawyer, guilty of the death of his neighbor, Charles R. Barnes, blown to bits, as the prosecution charged, when an infernal machine in the car exploded.

A recommendation of mercy was carried by the verdict reached by the jury of seven men and five women after almost six hours of deliberation.

By instructions from the court, the jurors were ordered to remain in the courtroom and deliberate as they looked upon the battered hulk of the machine which Cornell loaned to his neighbor on the day of the latter's death.

Attacked By Prosecutor

"You are like a venomous snake, except that you did not give Barnes the same chance that a rattlesnake gives its victim," assistant prosecutor George R. Hargreaves thundered at Cornell in his closing remarks to the jury.

"I am asking the same kind of sympathy Cornell gave Barnes when he blew him into eternity," Hargreaves told the jurors. "This crime is so heinous that there is no middle ground. Give Cornell liberty or give him death."

Others Escape With Cuts And Bruises—Truck Forces Bus Off Concrete

Serious catastrophe was narrowly averted at 8:40 a. m., today when the Hope School bus, hauling boys and girls from the Enon Valley district to the Mount Jackson School, overturned near the Westfield church. Thirty seven children were injured, of which only two received more than superficial cuts and bruises.

Two Seriously Hurt

The two most seriously injured are:

Matilda Nemeth, age 11, R. D. 2, Enon Valley. Badly cut about left hip and bruised. Held in Jameson Memorial hospital for further examination.

Margaret Salata, lacerations on the chin, bruised right shoulder, and sprained back. Taken to Jameson Memorial hospital after first aid treatment. To be held for further examination.

The above are the only two hospital cases.

The accident occurred when Randall Barris, driver of the school bus, attempted to pass a heavy, dual wheeled truck owned by the Frank Corbin Company of Beaver Falls, driven by William Pable. As the school bus swung out to pass, it is said that the truck veered towards the center of the road, forcing the school bus to the dirt. As it pulled (Continued On Page Seven)

(International News Service)
LINTON, Ind., Jan. 29.—An official death toll of 29 was announced today as the last of the charred bodies were taken from the Little Betty Mine, near here, scene of Indiana's third major mining disaster since 1925.

As the 29th body was brought to the surface, officials announced that they had accounted for all men who were in the mine when a deafening blast shook the entire countryside yesterday afternoon. The number of those rescued alive was announced as nine, three of whom suffered severe injuries.

All Accounted For.

The last of the injured to be rescued was Jouie Wellington, Sullivan, Ind., whose face and upper body were burned so badly that officials refrained from questioning him regarding his version of the explosion.

With all men accounted for, the official work was turned to positive identification of the dead and investigation of the cause of the blast. Several of the dead were burned so badly that identification was difficult.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Republican house leaders planned an early vote today in an effort to kill the senate's $25,000,000 food relief appropriation as both branches of congress resounded with agitation over refusal of the Red Cross to accept the proposed gift.

The house chiefs apparently believed their cause was strengthened by the statement of Chairman John Barton Payne of the Red Cross that a congressional "dole" would not only hurt the Red Cross but would virtually kill private charity.

The test vote is expected tomorrow, said Rep. Wood (R) of Indiana chairman of the appropriations committee, as the subcommittee in charge of the appropriation prepared to recommend rejection.

Representative William McElwee, Jr., Taking An Active Part In Legislation

Assemblyman William J. McElwee, Jr., has introduced three bills at Harrisburg which will be of interest here. One of the bills calls for a revision of the sheriff's interpreter act and embodies desirable changes.

The second bill would reduce the time for taking appeals from the decision of the register of wills. The time limit is two years at present. Under Mr. McElwee's bill the time limit would be three and six months, depending on whether or not the will had been probated.

The third bill would require the advertisement of the probate of a will when no letters are issued.

Court Martial Is Ordered For Maj. Gen. Butler

Protest From Italy Causes Probe—Major Butler Explains Charges

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—A general court martial was ordered today for Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, one of the highest ranking officers of the U. S. Marines, for his action ten days ago in reflecting upon Benito Mussolini, the Italian Dictator, in a speech at Philadelphia.

In this speech, Gen. Butler is reported to have pictured Mussolini as "a hit and run driver" who once ran down a child along an Italian roadside and then observed, "What is one life in the affairs of state?" There were other reflections upon the policies of the Italian dictator in Butler's speech.

Protest Made

A protest against Gen. Butler's remarks was promptly made at the State Department by Ambassador Di Martino, upon orders from the Italian Foreign Office. The State Department asked the Navy Department to investigate the incident, and Secretary of the Navy Adams called upon Gen. Butler for an explanation.

In a letter Gen. Butler placed in Secretary Adams' hands today he is understood to have admitted making substantially the remarks attributed to him. The order for the court martial followed.

Turns Over Command

Butler was ordered to turn over his command at Quantico to Brig. Gen. Randolph C. Berkley.

Presumably, Gen. Butler will be tried by a court of general officers made up of the navy and marine corps under the 96th article of war. This is the military statute that is jocularly known in the service as "Old Mother Hubbard" because it "covers everything". The specific charge is understood to be conduct unbecoming an officer.

President Hoover is said to have taken a personal as well as official interest in the case. At any rate, the Butler-Mussolini episode was freely discussed at Tuesday's cabinet meeting, and Mr. Hoover was said to have been considerably exercised over it.

Two Philadelphia Motorists Killed As Auto Plunges

Powerful Roadster Fails To Make Curve And Plunges Down Embankment

(International News Service)
COATESVILLE, Pa., Jan. 29.—Two Philadelphia motorists were killed today when their automobile over-ran a sweeping curve on the outskirts of the city here and hurtled over a 60-foot embankment.

The victims, Michael Flynn, 39, and William Anderson, 35, died shortly after the accident. Anderson died almost immediately while Flynn succumbed at the Coatesville hospital an hour later.

The tragedy occurred at the "chequered bridge" on the western edge of the city limits. The high-powered roadster in which the pair were riding failed to make the turn and plunged off the highway at the bridge falling to the railroad tracks below both bodies were badly mangled.

There were no eye witnesses to the tragedy and coroner Herbert C. Ford has ordered an investigation.

Valuation Muddle In Union Township

County Commissioners And Committee Go Over Books
Of Assessor G. S. Dodds

County commissioners and a committee consisting of Robert Atkinson, Robert Thompson and Joseph Hannon, started work this morning on a revision of the assessments made by G. S. Dodds in Union township.

Assessor Dodds was not present. According to reports he has left for California. Dodds was serving his second term as assessor. During his former term there does not appear to have been much kicking on his assessments, but when the present triennial assessment was made there were all kinds of complaints.

Several delegations have visited the county commissioners' office asking to have their valuations adjusted. It is claimed that Dodds made unwarranted upward adjustments in valuations and that the valuations are not only too high in many cases, but that they were unrequitable.

Some of the delegations have asked for a reassessment of the township, but commissioners believed that with the assistance of a committee familiar with properties in that township some kind of a solution can be worked out. The three members of the committee are believed to be well acquainted with values in the township.

explosion which killed Barnes may have been an act of God," Donald Gottwald, a member of the defense counsel pleaded with the jury.

Cornell's trial was one of the most spectacular and dramatic ever to come before an Ohio tribunal. He was charged with inventing a clever device attached to the car's lighting system which set off the blast when Barnes switched on the coupe's lights.

Barnes was killed last September 23 when the car, which he was driving, was ripped to pieces by the explosion. Experts were called by the state to testify that the blast originated outside the gas tank when defense experts attempted to show that the explosion was caused by a static spark.

At one stage of the trial a number of old cars were fitted with contrivances and blown up by the state in an effort to arrive at the exact method by which Barnes was believed to have met his death.

Mrs. Barnes, widow of the victim, was arrested by police in connection with her husband's death, but was discharged when the grand jury failed to return an indictment.

Phosphate rock, it seems, entered into the manufacture of a certain commercial fertilizer. A company mining this rock entered into a contract with a concern manufacturing fertilizer by which it was agreed that the mining company should sell the other all the phosphate rock it needed for five years at a stipulated price, the quantity to average about 500 tons annually. And shipments began to go forward. But the fertilizer market gradually grew weaker and weaker and at last had reached such a stage that it did not pay to manufacture it, or to stock up any more phosphate rock and so for some years they brought none from the mining company.

When at last the market was better the fertilizer company sent an order to the mining company, but the company refused to fill it. But the fertilizer company needed the rock, therefore it filed suit against the mining company.

and to some extent a stormy figure in marine corps circles. Although possessed of a fine service record, which included the congressional medal of honor, he has nevertheless managed to figure in number of spectacular episodes which have brought him publicity and limelight.

During the Coolidge administration, he was "loaned" to the City of Philadelphia as its "clean up crusader". He was given charge of the police force and supposedly a free hand to rid the city of bootlegging, vice and racketeering.

After a period of tempestuous service, in which there was much publicity, he returned to the marine corps and Philadelphia returned to its normal ways.

One of Butler's first assignments after his Philadelphia experience was to command the marine base at San Diego. During this assignment he again came in for much publicity by preferring charges against a distinguished marine corps colonel whom he observed taking a drink at a private dance. Gen. Butler incurred a great deal of resentment in the service over this affair.

Lecture Is Cause
Of late, Gen. Butler has been much in demand as a lecturer. It was one of these lectures, before the Contemporary club of Philadelphia, on Jan. 19, that brought him into his present trouble.

Although Butler's letter to Secretary Adams was not made public, it is understood that the general admitted telling the story of Mussolini's alleged hit-and-run auto escape, and to have further stated that the incident was related to him by Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., writer and one-time newspaper publisher.

An officer of Butler's rank is rarely tried by a general court. A heavy draft will have to be made on the admirals of the navy for personnel sufficient to constitute the court.

No general officer has been tried in either the army, navy or marine corps since Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, who waged a long and spectacular warfare with the army general staff and the navy general board over the relative merits of air planes and battleships.

The order for a court martial was issued by Secretary Adams.

The personnel of the court to try Gen. Butler will be announced in the next few days. There may be a maximum of thirteen officers or a minimum of six, not more than half of whom may be equal or superior in rank to the accused.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—A full report on Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler's Mussolini speech, in which he is reported to have spoken of the Italian dictator in most uncompromising terms, was placed before Secretary of the Navy Adams today.

He will pass it on to the State Department, which will endeavor to appease the wrath of Premier Mussolini through the negotiating agency of Ambassador Di Martino.

Upon the attitude taken by the State Department probably depends whether Gen. Butler will continue in the United States Marine Corps, friends of the stormy Marine asserted today that Gen. Butler would resign his commission rather than to apologize to the Italian embassy.

Vanderbilt Concerned
Gen. Butler considers that he had "good authority" for his reference to Mussolini. This authority was reported today to have been Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., globe trotter and occasional journalist. It was Vanderbilt, according to reports, who told Butler of the alleged incident of Mussolini speeding along an Italian road and striking a child and later making the observation:

"What is one life in the affairs of a state?"

In any event, Butler related the tale in an address before the contemporary club in Philadelphia ten days ago, and things immediately began to happen. Mussolini instructed his ambassador here to lodge an immediate and vigorous protest against any American general making such a remark and Ambassador Di Martino made tracks for the state department instanter.

Then the red tape began to unwind. The state department called upon the navy department for investigation and the navy department called on Gen. Butler for explanation—but not before the cabinet had discussed the incident.

Her Interest
President Hoover was reported to be considerably exercised over the affair.

Gen. Butler's explanation was delivered to Secretary Adams early today. While it was not made public, it is understood to be a defense of his statements concerning the Italian Premier, and to contain no apology or retraction.

Under the circumstances, the administration can do little but demand an apology from Gen. Butler or try him on court martial charges of conduct unbecoming an officer. In either case, Butler's friends say, he will resign.

Gen. Butler has been contemplating resigning from the Marine Corps anyway, they say, ever since the command of the corps was not tendered him several months ago upon the death of Maj. Gen. Neville. Maj. Gen. Benjamin H. Fuller was chosen commandant instead of Gen. Butler and the fact is said to have rankled.

previous attempts merely because a suspension of the rules requires a two-thirds majority. They were confident of defeating Black's latest effort.

Special Session Threat
This two-thirds rule temporarily saved the administration from facing a serious impasse over enactment of the war bill. If Black succeeds and a willing Senate votes some Muscle Shoals legislation into the appropriation bill, the administration will face a choice of accepting the legislation or killing the bill. The latter act would force a special session of the new congress. Consequently, administration leaders were rallying their forces in another battle against this threat.

The Federal Power Commission came into the spotlight through the Walsh resolution, directing the district attorney here to institute ouster proceedings against Commissioners George Otis Smith, Marcel Garsaud and Claude L. Draper, after a favorable report from two Senate committees, Senator Walsh (D) of Montana, sought action on the resolution yesterday but was blocked by an administration objection. He gave notice he would press for its adoption at the first opportunity and there was every indication it would carry.

The house plan, Wood indicated, was to reject the appropriation and send it to conference with the senate. In this there is the possibility of a compromise.

Rep. Tilson of Connecticut, Republican leader of the house, however, declared, "no compromise." Refusal of the Red Cross to handle the fund, if voted, will force amendments. Sen. Robinson suggested an entirely new agency be set up.

He was ready to renew his attack that the Red Cross was being made "an instrument of political oppression" by President Hoover, other Democrats, including Trammell (D) of Florida and Coolidge (D) of New York, joined in the attack on the Red Cross.

DO WE LIVE IN A CURVED UNIVERSE?

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

Professor Einstein says that all space is curved; that gravity is not due to the attractive force of matter, but is a characteristic attribute of the curve; that physical bodies do not tend to move in straight lines, but rather in curved lines because of the fact that relativity in nature is made that way. He says that parallel lines drawn in space would meet, and light travels in curved lines. If space is curved, we live in a universe that is finite but boundless. Space then would resemble a sphere. Einstein gives the diameter of the universe as 158,000 million light years. Light making the circuit of the universe would require 500,000 million years!

in which it was believed this morning 29 men had lost their lives. Those rescued this morning were: Lucie Hale, William Bedwell, Ben Snyder, Herman Brown, Charles Love and Jus Cross, all of Linton, Ind., and Julie Wellington of Sullivan.

These men had managed to brattle themselves in a distant part of the mine, after the explosion, and kept away the deadly after damp. Two of them were suffering from face burns but all of them, considering their imprisonment underground since late yesterday, were in surprisingly good condition.

The rescue of seven men alive today brought renewed hope to the hundreds of men, women and children gathered around the mine, that the ten miners still missing may also be rescued. Mine officials, however, expressed fears that the missing men had been killed by the deadly gas.

Ignition of Gas.
Veteran rescue workers today expressed the belief that the explosion which entombed 35 men late yesterday was due to ignition of gas and was not a black powder blast as first believed. Their theory was strengthened by the finding of several boxes of unexploded powder in the mine.

It was estimated that about 150 men were still in the west section of the mine which is about 265 feet deep, when the explosion took place. All but about 35 were able to get through the air courses leading into the mine.

Survivor Gives Details.
LINTON, Ind., Jan. 29.—Don Burris, survivor of the Little Betty coal mine disaster which took a toll of 33 lives, described the underground explosion from his bed in Linton hospital today.

"I was walking ahead of the gang coming out of the mine," he said. "The explosion came all of a sudden and the shaft was plunged in complete darkness. I called to the gang to follow me and I grabbed a trolley wire and followed it as far as the mine mouth."

"Then suddenly everything went black and I don't remember anything more until some of the fellows were leading me to the fresh air."

"I didn't see any flash or fire. The black damp must have put us out instantly. That is what I am afraid now has happened to the other boys who didn't get out."

"I guess we were farther off to the head of the entry, the tenth west; otherwise Bedwell and I would not have been able to get out."

MEXICO'S GRIEVANCE

IN VIEW of the manifest desire of the Mexican government and people to cultivate cordial relations with the United States, and in view of the enlightened policy of President Ortiz Rubio, ably supported by Ambassador Tellez, it is more than ever necessary that the United States should refrain from any act that could be construed as unfair to the Mexican nation. Mexico's rights must be respected if we expect her to respect our rights.

An unfortunate lack of fact was shown by Senator Ashurst when he suggested that the United States negotiate with Mexico for the purchase of Lower California and a portion of Sonora. It was inevitable that both the government and people of Mexico would scornfully repel any suggestion that the national domain is subject to barter. Americans would consider such a suggestion from a foreign country an insult demanding formal apology.

Another sore spot between these two neighbors is the Black Canyon dam project. Mexico has declared her rights to a share of the resources lying in the Colorado River which she believes jeopardized by the construction of the dam and subsequent diversion of water. International law is unmistakably on the side of the neighboring republic.

May Washington do nothing to needlessly terminate the long reign of friendship established by Senator Morrow. Certainly the question can be arbitrated to the satisfaction of both sides.

POLITICS' NEMESIS

The Wickersham commission's report and the president's reaction to it have set in motion a tempest rivaling in fury that which has been raging for years over the subject of that report. If nothing else comes from this controversy within a controversy, it is likely to make political history.

Every political leader and pretender to leadership has been drawn into the seething discussion. Or would it be more accurate to say jumped in? In and out of congress and in and out of the papers each is giving his view, and each view is confidently expected by the viewer to be the shot that ended the war.

Political destinies are being shaped by this deluge of opinions. Prohibition is an issue in both national and state politics, and what politicians say on the question may be used for or against them. Some the present situation may put definitely in the running for a presidential nomination in 1932, others it may put definitely out of the running.

Conceived as an oil to calm the troubled waters, the commission seems to have had the opposite effect. It has aggravated instead of mollified the situation, and it certainly has not—as President Hoover anxiously hoped it would—removed this nemesis of parties and politicians. The problem has been simplified, to say the least.

SPRING IS SWINGING DOWN THE ROAD

During the bleak and sometimes violent days of January there is some comfort in the thought that the days are getting longer. There is a pleasant sensation in the discovery about this time of the year that it is no longer necessary to get up in the "middle of the night" to go to work and to return home after dark.

As the days lengthen the mind turns to thoughts of spring. King Winter has by no means spent his forces, but with January singing her swan song and the midge month certain to pass rapidly, he will have to work swiftly if he wants to maintain his reputation for being disagreeable. Blizzards, cold snaps and sleet storms are coming out of the north, but so is an ascendant sun which will see to it that there will be an increasing number of good days among the bad.

There is no better way to forget the discomforts and privations of winter than to anticipate garden-making, fishing, golf and motoring days; while spring house-cleaning time is still far enough in the future for housewives to ponder the subject without a sense of dread.

THE KITCHEN SURVIVES

Moralists who have despaired of American city life on the fearsome ground that it is drifting into a kitchenless state, should take heart from reports on a recent survey conducted by the National Association of Real Estate Boards. In only two cities of the many canvassed, it appears, were there found apartment houses having neither kitchen nor kitchenette, and these constituted one-fifth of one per cent of the total. Moreover, the present trend is away from the kitchenette, if by that term is meant one of those appallingly efficient places in which there is room for everything except the cook. "In another ten years," predicts one authority, "this, no doubt, will be regarded as an antique, and the occupant of an apartment possessing one will proudly exhibit it as the relic of an era. The effort now is to provide every apartment with an adequate space for preparing foods—real kitchens."

Thus vanishes, if the reactors are right, another spectre of the American home which, as some prophets of the hour would have it, is tottering toward extinction. Homes have flourished in such a diversity of environments and have weathered through the ages so many of the follies and frailties and ills of human nature, that we can hardly fancy them going to smash on a kitchenette or fading away because of automobiles and bobbed hair. Nevertheless, it is reassuring to know that the charmed circle of the teakettle and the skillet is widening again.—The Atlanta Journal.

"Rats," came the sharp reply. "All right, dear," replied hubby. "Cook one for yourself, but boil me a new-laid egg."

Did you ever get in a terrible hurry in the morning, rush out without breakfast or even a shave, and

"Nice day for the big race, sir," began the barber, leisurely, but Johnson cut him short.

AFTER THE CHILDREN GO TO BED

What's the most peaceful hour in the day? Of course, if you're not a father or a mother, you may not know. But if there are children in the house—and if you'll be honest about it—you know what that hour is, just as well as I do.

It's the hour just after the children have gone to bed. Longfellow had another hour in mind. He seemed to think that the Children's Hour—just BEFORE they go to bed—is the best in the day. Well, it may be the best; it is certainly the busiest. But it's far from being the most peaceful.

The quietest hour, of most blessed peace, is the one that comes after the children have gone to bed and have closed their eyes. Then grown-ups can be themselves, without considering the children. They needn't read children's books, needn't answer children's questions, needn't guard their tongues from the little pitchers that have big ears, needn't settle children's problems, needn't do any of those scores of things that are part of the complicated business of being a parent.

That business, nearly all parents will agree, is a satisfying one, that strengthens and completes a life and adds a deep beauty to existence. . . . But it isn't all fun. There's food to prepare, silver to be extracted, colds to be treated, problems to be solved—and even patient, precious love grows weary in the last mile of the upward slope of the day. But they go to bed at last.

The littlest one takes the tooth he lost during the day and puts it under his pillow, in sure faith that it will turn to a dime during the night. The oldest one goes, too, reminding you that you said he should have a pair of skates for his birthday.

You say good night, you close the doors, you feel relieved, you find a comfortable chair—and you sit at last, at peace with the world.

You're no longer just a Parent, you're a Person. Or you hope you are. "You think you are, at least. The strain—and children ARE a strain—is no longer on you, in you, all about you. You are You and you're contented. The children are well and they're sleeping. You are living quietly, being yourself, and enjoying existence. The silver cord is loosened for a little while. You love your children, of course; nobody could love them more; but there are times when you do want to Get Away. And this is your chance, your shore leave, your temporary liberty—that hour after the children have gone to bed, the most peaceful in all the day.

The speech forms an admirable guide to American statesmanship in this generation," in the opinion of the CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE (Rep.), which proclaims that "the nation is, indeed, in need of a return to the Maryland system of government." That paper, however, criticizes the governor's attitude toward "reduction, if not cancellation of the debts owed by the Allies," as a means of hastening "a world-wide economic rehabilitation," and advises: "Mr. Ritchie might well give the matter further study. There is small reason to believe that the depression in Europe was caused by the debts or that forgiving the debts would hasten the return of good times. There is little question, on the contrary, that cancellation would add to the immediate burdens of the American taxpayer even as it would enhance the value of foreign bonds in the vaults of New York financiers whose advocacy of cancellation may well be colored by their interest."

"A remarkable statement of the purposes of government" is seen by the DAVENPORT DEMOCRAT (Dem.) in the address, and that paper adds: "The deep study of government which Governor Ritchie has made led him to the conclusion that government should stand for salvation in all things and to all people, ordered by the individual and the right to follow his own pursuits in his own way so long as he does not interfere with the like rights of others or the recognized sanctions of society; and a self-governing state, free to settle its local problems in conformity with the needs of its people, who should be unhampered by an excess of government from within and by undue federal supervision or interference from without." Such, he holds, are the traditions of Maryland, and they may well be the traditions of any state and of all the states."

He has a "program upon which the four-time governor of the great state of Maryland must be given national recognition," shares the MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL APPEAL (Dem.) holding that "no man can be elected four times consecutively to the governorship of an important state without achieving large potentialities as the national leader of the political party to which he belongs." The FLINT DAILY JOURNAL (Ind.) holds that "for the first time he is within shooting distance of the nomination, though while he is 'a man of talents,' it is 'doubtful if his name has the proper magical effect on the public to win him the election.'"

"The man seems to enjoy the confidence of virtually all Maryland folk," avers the LITTLE ROCK ARKANSAS DEMOCRAT (Dem.), "and there is no mystery in how he has won his power, when one reads some of his remarks in his message to the legislature. . . . What interests us is the fact that Governor Ritchie practices, as Maryland's chief executive, exactly what he preaches." The SCRANTON TIMES (Dem.) refers to the address as "a strong argument, which again proves him a clear, straight thinker; a man of courage, opinions and vigorous beliefs, one who sees clearly on the great questions affecting not only his own beloved Maryland but the country. It is bound to attract attention, retort and commendation."

"He fails to recognize," charges the PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN (Ind. Rep.), "that the government has a duty to stimulate employment in its own sphere, and owes it to the country to formulate large lines of policy stimulating the efforts of business to help itself. The national administration has never sought more than this."

"He has written a good platform for any party, in particular his own," asserts the AKRON BEACON JOURNAL (Rep.), "that in 1932 hopes to gain the favor of the American people. But we doubt if in spite of the logic of his position his

Ritchie Wins New Attention
As Advocate Of Old Policies

Maryland Governor, In Discussion Of Decentralization, Recognized As Possible Candidate For Democratic Presidential Nomination

Beginning his fourth term as governor of Maryland, Albert C. Ritchie wins increased attention through his advocacy of decentralization in national affairs, though some who approve his utterances declare that the Democratic party has shifted its position on this policy. He is definitely placed among the possible candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"His steadfastness has been of inestimable value, and if the party has a rebirth, his services cannot be forgotten," says the NEW YORK WORLD (Ind.), holding that "if only the party had been loyal to its own traditions, it would never have become so confused and divided." The World refers to "prohibition, intolerance and economic paternalism" as "false gods which different factions in the party have worshipped."

"The address is regarded in some quarters as a definite bid for the 1932 Democratic presidential nomination," according to the ROANOKE WORLD-NEWS (Ind. Dem.), which declares that "for years Governor Ritchie has been the leading exponent of state rights against constant federal aggression." The World-News offers the appraisal: "It is a frank statement of clear-cut principles he has long advocated. If the Democratic party is to consider the Virginia-born governor of Maryland as its champion in 1932, it will govern exactly what principles in government he is definitely committed. And it must be admitted that those are the principles on which the Democratic party was founded, and for which it has stood, with some unfortunate exceptions, for more than a century."

Many Questions Involve State Taking Over Roads

Matter Of Bridges On Township Highways Will Have To Be Settled

Pinchot and Lewis Will Have Weighty Problem On Their Hands

(From News Bureau)
(State Capital)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 29.—The important questions will have to be settled by Governor Pinchot and his highway secretary Samuel S. Lewis before the State can start to improve the 20,000 miles of township roads in the event the legislature adds that mileage to the system. These questions probably will be asked by members of the legislature when the road matter is under discussion.

The roads to be taken over are those designated by the various boards of township supervisors at the suggestion of the Highway Department. In recent years the department has endeavored to have the supervisors select primary secondary and useless township roads.

This was done with the thought in mind that when the State would take over these roads the more important would be added first. A considerable part of this primary mileage as designated by the supervisors has been improved under the township reward system.

One of the important problems to be considered is the matter of bridges on these roads. The last legislature made the State responsible for the maintenance and reconstruction of all bridges on highway routes. Since the department took over these bridges several hundred have either been rebuilt or new ones constructed.

The bridges on the 20,000 miles of primary township road to be assumed by the State under the governor's recommendation are all smaller than those on the present system. Just what the number of bridges on these township roads would total no one appears to be in a position to hazard a guess. If the State would assume the duty of looking after these bridges the obligation would be a heavier one than merely maintaining and improving these rural roads.

Whether the department will improve most of the roads or put it out under contract is another question to be settled. In the event the department decides to do the work additional equipment may be needed.

In recent years little macadam mileage has been built and all of it costing more than what is contemplated for the 20,000 miles. Most contractors are equipped for concrete construction and might not be anxious to bid on jobs of the cheaper type.

Extensive road relocations probably will be taboo during the next four years. At present Highway Department engineers are making a check to determine just how many miles of road must be rebuilt this year and what can be postponed until later.

Governor Pinchot has let it be known he does not favor spending large sums of money on short sections of road. Most of these expensive stretches of highway have been on relocations of the main highways.

Under the present gasoline tax law a half cent of the levy is returned to the county of origin. Nothing has been said by the governor whether he favors keeping that money in the motor fund if the State takes over this added township road mileage.

Many of the counties use their share of the gas tax refund to aid townships improve rural roads. If the State takes over these 20,000 miles of road improvement of township roads by the counties and townships will stop. That being the case the governor might recommend that the money be kept by the State.

Good Program At Lincoln Wednesday

Art Program Correlated With Other Subjects Is Presented On Wednesday

One of the best programs of the year was presented on Wednesday morning in the auditorium of the Lincoln and Garfield school when a number of guests witnessed a special art program correlated with music, physical education, dramatics and English, staged by a number of students of that institution.

Following the program Dr. C. C. Green, Superintendent of Schools gave a short address. Dr. Green commented on the cleanliness of the students who watched the program, the way they entered the auditorium and complimented the students who took part in the program.

The chapel program was a correlation of the following subjects, art, music, physical education, dramatics, and English. The program was in charge of Miss Stella McVay with Miss Margaret Sankey in charge of the music. One of the features was a duet by two members of the faculty Miss Lillian Sarver and Miss Helen Kyle.

Coincidence In Topic Of Sermon

Rev. Rees is well known in New Castle, having been a former preacher here. He is the brother of Arthur J. Rees, of East Washington street.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

SYMPTOMS
If you are over 40, and have dizzy spells, thumping and pounding in the head, unsteady gait, are extremely nervous and do not sleep well, you have symptoms of high blood pressure.

Norma, a physician's prescription, which you may get at New Castle Drug, Eckerd's or any drug store, will give relief from these symptoms so surely and so quickly, that often improvement is noticed with the very first day's use.

Norma is not laxative, is easy and pleasant to use and has a wonderful record in giving relief from the distressing symptoms of high blood pressure.

Without Salves or Cutting
Thousands of Pile sufferers have learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves or cutting remove the cause.

Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To end Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation and strengthen the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonard was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1000 patients with the marvelous record of success in 960 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID from their own druggist with a rigid money-back guarantee.

Dr. Leonard's prescription has a wonderful record of success right in this city and New Castle Drug Co., or Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc. invites every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID and guarantee to refund the purchase price if it does not end all Pile misery.

Two Gray Foxes Reveal Albinism

HARRISBURG, Jan. 29.—Although thousands of gray foxes have been sent to the game commission for bounty payment since the law became effective in 1915, only in two recent cases did the pelts show evidence of albinism. One had been killed in Westmoreland and the other in Centre.

Both pelts, while not entirely white, showed but slight traces of gray.

During the years when bounty was paid on red foxes no traces of albinism were found, attaches of the bureau of predatory animals said.

Without Salves or Cutting
Thousands of Pile sufferers have learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves or cutting remove the cause.

Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To end Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation and strengthen the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonard was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1000 patients with the marvelous record of success in 960 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID from their own druggist with a rigid money-back guarantee.

Dr. Leonard's prescription has a wonderful record of success right in this city and New Castle Drug Co., or Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc. invites every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID and guarantee to refund the purchase price if it does not end all Pile misery.

Would Suspend Dry Enforcement In Pennsylvania

Celler Bill Would Cut Federal Activity In States Which Do Not Co-operate

MANY DRY STATES INCLUDED IN LIST

By ARTHUR L. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent Of The New Castle News
WASHINGTON D. C. Jan. 29.—The federal government would suspend prohibition enforcement activity in Pennsylvania inasmuch as the Keystone State itself spends no money for that purpose, under a bill introduced in the House by Representative Emanuel Celler of New York.

Congressman Celler's measure aims to terminate federal prohibition enforcement in all states which do not cooperate concurrently by the appropriation of State funds for the enforcement of national prohibition.

The Celler bill would in effect apply specifically to thirty-two states, twenty-two of which—Pennsylvania among them—have never appropriated any funds to enforce national prohibition, and ten of which have appropriated money in the past but have now ceased to do so.

It is Congressman Celler's belief that a state that does not appropriate funds of its own with which to cooperate toward support of national prohibition either does not need prohibition or does not want it. He points out in this connection that some of the driest of the states, which continually send dry delegations to Congress, spend nothing for prohibition enforcement, as well as those states that are indifferent to prohibition.

Congressman Celler feels that the federal government should not have to foot the entire bill for prohibition enforcement in the dry states that do not care to cooperate, and of course he sees no justification for what he considers the unnecessary expenditure in the ostensibly wet states.

STOP BOBBY'S COUGH

Before it Weakens Him to the Danger Point!

Never take a child's cough lightly. You can't tell where it will end. Many a serious sickness has started with "just a cough". For a cough is not only distressing, but weakening as well. At the first sign of a cough or chest soreness in old or young, always give good, dependable "Piso's for Coughs".

Piso's does the five things necessary to stop a cough and repair the damage done. It checks the cough spasm, loosens the mucus, opens the air passages, soothes the inflamed tissues, and at the same time, has a tonic value that tends to build up what the cough tears down. Only Piso's supplies these five vital effects and it contains no opiates and does not upset the stomach. Safe to give, even to babies. All druggists sell Piso's in 35c and 69c sizes. Be sure you ask for "Piso's for Coughs".

Peter's Adventures

THE AGITATOR ANT SPEAKS

"Just supposing that for some reason, I'm sure I can't guess what, one of the tunnels from the upper world into the ant-hill should be left unguarded and a strange hunter, bent on stealing another hunter's catch, should find her way into it, nothing much would happen, to the hunter and the game she was after. But something would happen to the would-be thief."

"What?" Peter was interested. "Well, the sneak-thief might get as far as the main passage way. But there she would run head on into a troop of armed guards who would put her out of the way in a jiffy."

"I guess the scheme's fool-proof!" laughed Peter. "You have convinced me the Red Ants ought to build a subway for their Black Ant hunter-slaves. Hello! What's all the fuss about over yonder? See that slave waving her antennae? To whom is she signalling? Can you read her message?"

Lively looked and nodded. "She an agitator ant!" answered Lively. "She is urging the worker Black Ants to use their powers."

"What is she saying now?" asked Peter, as the murmur of the Black Ants swelled into an uproar.

"She says: 'What would our lazy mistresses do without us? Nothing! If we turned on them, what could they do against us? Nothing! What would they be without us? Nothing! We Black ants have kept a roof over the Redskins' heads, have fed and served them. We go hungry and grow thin while they stuff and grow fat. They make merry while we must bow our heads in the dust before them. It is time for us to rise and assert our rights!'"

Governor's Irish Wolfhound Attracts Much Attention

(From News Bureau) (State Capital)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 29.—Scattered particularly the region of the Governor's office are a number of staid ward guards. State policemen all of them and apparently the pick of the force.

In addition to these guards, there is a guard inside, in the governor's outer office, one that looks more ferocious than a squad of armed officers, but who actually is gentle and even playful. The additional guard is an immense Irish wolfhound, the pet of Governor and Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, one of the few such dogs in Pennsylvania.

In size the dog is as tall as a shetland pony and longer. His coat is a bristled, wiry one, iron gray in color and coarse in texture. Long hair comes down over his eyes, giving him a forbidding appearance. Perhaps the best description of him would be to imagine a gray airedale,

three or four times as large as any airedale you had ever seen.

Visitors to the governor's office

soon learn that the Irish wolfhound is friendly and one pat on the head is an invitation to the huge animal to nuzzle against you. In his attempt at friendliness he pushes against you, nearly knocking you down, but always he carries that grave, dignified expression.

The Irish Wolfhound is one of two immense dogs the Governor and Mrs. Pinchot own. The other is a Great Dane, short haired, nearly as tall as the Wolfhound, tawny in color and with enormous limbs. The two dogs together could be harnassed and used in plowing.

District Attorney Against Whipping Post Legislation

Others In City And County Express Views On Proposed State Law

District Attorney John S. Powers, declared today that he was "unalterably" opposed to the whipping post law as suggested in the bill presented before the lower chamber of the legislature by Representative Turner of Delaware county.

The bill calls for the establishment of whipping posts in every county. Whipping would become a public affair under the provisions of the bill and the whipping post would be kept in or near the county jail. Lashes would be administered by the sheriff or his deputy.

The Lawrence county prosecutor declared the whipping post a "sadistic" form of punishment and added that it was not the last word in scientific penology.

Mayor William H. Gillespie now in Texas is reported to be in favor of the form of punishment. A member of the police department said that the city's chief executive recently expressed his views on the subject when a defendant appeared before him in police court. The mayor, it is reported, declared he was sorry the law did not provide such punishment for certain offenses.

Views on the subject were expressed as follows:

District Attorney John S. Powers: "I am unalterably opposed to such sadistic forms of punishment. It is the punishment that no gentleman could inflict. To what period of history and to what condition of society do such things as the whipping post belong? Surely the proposed measure does not represent the consummate flower of all our experience in the treatment of the criminal question; nor would I call it the last word in scientific penology. Certainly, it can not be said to mirror the tradition of democracy nor the heritage of Christianity."

Chief of Police C. C. Horner: "I am against it because I feel that criminals who really deserve to be punished in such a manner would escape the lash."

County Detective H. Martin Lee: "It might be satisfactory in some instances, but who is in a position to state whether a man or woman should be whipped for any violation?"

Mrs. Minnie P. McKibbin, policeman: "The publicity of the whipping post would do a great deal to curb crime. In our own work, I believe it would do a lot of good."

Captain Harvey G. Bintrim, commander, Troop F, 103rd Cavalry: "I am in favor of the whipping post. If I had a chance I would vote for it. It would do a lot to lessen the criminal population in our jails."

R. L. Meermans, general secretary, Young Men's Christian association: "I believe the whipping post would be a step backwards in the progress of civilization. It will create a desire for personal revenge. I do not want to see public whipping a part of American life."

Driver's Story

Ransom Barris, the driver of the school bus has been driving such a bus for W. W. Smeal for three years and has been driving an automobile for eleven years without any accident heretofore. His story of the accident follows:

"I was driving towards Mount Jackson back to the Corbin truck on a down grade near the Westfield church. As I approached the truck I blew the horn twice and then swung out to the left. As I did, the truck veered into the center of the road and I was forced to take to the dirt. Directly ahead was a culvert and in order to avoid hitting it I pulled back into the road, but again the truck veered into the middle of the road, smashing into the school bus and we started to overturn."

"The windshield of the bus was smashed into bits, glass flying into my face. As the bus turned over the door glass broke and the children were piled on top of each other. It was a terrifying moment. Children were screaming and crying, and I was afraid some of them might be crushed in the jam."

Pulls Them Out Doors

"Breaking off the remaining pieces of jagged glass I reached down through the doors and began pulling the youngsters out. Some of the larger boys and girls assisted me after I got them out and in a few minutes we had them all out. Some of them had blood on their faces and some of them were complaining of bruises about the bodies and legs."

"I got them all into the McCandless farm and physicians were sent for. An ambulance was ordered but fortunately this was not needed. Mr. Smeal sent out another bus and in this bus and in several private cars we got the youngsters into the Mount Jackson school where their injuries were attended to."

"Neither the bus nor the truck were going very fast. Whether or not the truck driver had his truck out of gear as they sometimes do, or whether he did not have on a rear vision mirror on the left front fender I cannot say. The excitement of the moment drove all thought of everything from me, except to get the kiddies attended to as quickly as possible."

Girl Verifies Story

The statement of Mr. Barris was verified in chief by Elizabeth Main, one of the older girls in the bus. She said, "as we approached the truck, Mr. Barris blew his horn twice. As we started around the truck suddenly swung into the middle of the road and Mr. Barris had to pull over. We rode along the dirt for a time and then started back onto the highway. It looked as though the truck again swung into the middle of the road and then crashed into us. Then the bus turned over and we were all piled up in a heap."

Starvation Will Relieve Appendicitis

Avoid Food, Medicine If Stomach Aches—Clendening

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

The surgeon who pointed out the proper preparatory treatment of appendicitis was Dr. A. J. Ochsenrider of Chicago. By preparatory treatment I mean preparatory for operation. Dr. Ochsenrider emphasized the danger of giving cathartics to these patients, and it was his contention that unless they could be operated very early it is safer to starve them, and give no cathartics until the fever and acute symptoms have subsided.

From his work comes one of the most important health rules on earth: "Never give a person with an acute pain in the abdomen a cathartic."

All acute stomachaches, of course, are not due to appendicitis. But if the stomachache is not appendicitis, the cathartic is not needed, and if it is appendicitis it is deadly dangerous. If I had acute appendicitis I would rather go out and fight a mad dog than swallow an ounce of castor oil.

It seems very hard to teach people this. As soon as they get a stomachache they say, "Something I have eaten," and rush pell mell for the medicine closet. If you ever vomit after taking a cathartic when you are ill, for heaven's sake don't repeat the dose. That is nature's way of showing you nothing is wanted in the stomach.

I heard Dr. Ochsenrider tell once how he found out about the no-cathartic treatment of appendicitis. There was a very rich and otherwise prominent citizen of Chicago in the old days, when aseptic surgery was young, who had frequent attacks of appendicitis. Being of so much importance, he naturally had a great array of consultants.

He was always urged to have his appendix cut, but he never would consent, so the consultants, after trying unsuccessfully to make him surgery minded, fell back on the then fashionable medical treatment for the disease.

Dr. Ochsenrider lost track of him for several years, and then one day he met him walking in the park. In the course of the exchange of greetings the doctor asked him how his appendicitis was.

"You know, I've learned how to cure appendicitis," was the answer. The doctor averred that he had been trying to find out for a long time and asked what the method was.

"Well, you see, you fellows would give me castor oil and salts and more castor oil all the time. And I'd get sicker and sicker, until finally I got so sick and weak I couldn't hold any of it on my stomach. I began to notice that when that time came around I started to get well. So I decided I would take the last part of the treatment first. Since then, whenever I have an attack I just go to bed, refuse all food, water or salts, and I get well in about four days."

All this sounded sensible, and from it was derived the now famous Ochsenrider treatment for appendicitis.

Editor's Note: For pamphlets and three articles by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each pamphlet, and 2 cents in coin for each article, with a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes" and "Femine Hygiene." The articles are: "Normal Diet," "Diet of the Expectant Mother" and "Tuberculosis."

Honestly, sometimes it looks like the world has become so humane that its imbeciles are enclosed in sedans instead of stone walls.

"How's that?" he asked. "I thought you were very satisfied with her."

"So I am, dear," replied his wife; "but she's beating some carpets for me this morning, and she does it better when she's angry."

PERFECT HOST

Mother was having guests for dinner and three-year-old Lee was trying to entertain them. After showing all his toys, etc., he went up to one young man and said, "Now, would you like to brush your teeth? We have toothbrushes."

Sanatoria Work Shows Progress

HARRISBURG, Jan. 29.—Coleman E. Mark, engineer in charge of construction work now under way at the three state sanatoria, today reported that the two cure pavilions being erected at Hamburg and which will have an 80-bed capacity, are now completely under roof and that the interior work is well under way. He also reported that two similar cure pavilions being erected at Mont Alto are now 85 per cent completed.

As to the work being done at Crescon he advised that the general construction for the 120-bed children's hospital at that place has now been completed up to the first floor, some delay being experienced because of weather conditions.

How to Escape FLU

Avoid so far as possible the places where flu germs are most likely to be spread; overcrowded cars and public meeting places; overheated, stuffy rooms.

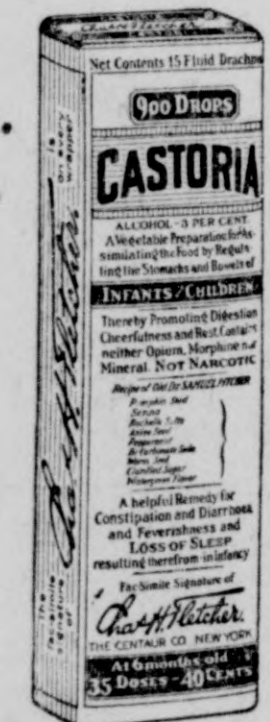

Be careful of close contact with others and beware of all coughers and sneezers; breathe through the nose, get fresh air, but avoid drafts or chilling.

Get lots of rest. Eat plenty of citrus fruits. Keep the bowels open. Take extra precaution to keep in good physical condition, so your system will have high resistance against germs.

Above all, avoid catching colds. They lower your resistance to the flu germ. Ward them off. At the first sign of any cold, take Bayer Aspirin and remain indoors if possible until your cold is gone. If you have a sore throat, dissolve some Bayer Aspirin tablets in water and gargle; this will relieve the soreness and reduce the inflammation.

If you have any reason to suspect even a touch of flu, call your doctor at once.

CHILDREN CRY FOR IT

FIVE million modern mothers will tell you that children DO cry for Fletcher's Castoria. For mothers always give a few drops of this pure vegetable preparation when a child has any of the symptoms that tell of sluggish bowels, colic, or other upsets. When tiny tongues are coated and breath is bad. When a child is restless; irritable. Always soothing and comforting to an infant—yet it is effective for children in their teens. You never have to coax children to take Castoria; they love its taste.

Be ready for the next case of sour stomach, constipation, or other need for Castoria! When buying look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher on wrapper.

NUMBER WRITERS IN STEUBENVILLE ARE GIVEN HEAVY FINES

(International News Service)
STEUBENVILLE, O., Jan. 29.—Number writers here were the recipients of a severe setback today with the arrest of two alleged operators, William Radcliffe and E. R. Bertram, who were fined $50 and costs by Judge Randall Buchanan in municipal court.

The arrests were the first victims of the threatened campaign against gambling being waged by City Solicitor Amanda Strayer.

Coupled with the announcement that the New York Stock Exchange would cease to publish complete figures of stock sales, the attack on the numbers racketers here was doubly critical, numbers writers report.

Hero Medals Awarded Twenty-One Persons By Fund Commission

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 29.—Heroes from ten states scattered throughout the nation, ranging from the Bay State to the Panhandle, today had been accorded recognition for outstanding, life-risking acts of heroism at the twenty-seventh annual meeting of the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission here. Twenty-one instances of heroism were formally recognized.

No Pennsylvanians were included in the list of awards made public today.

Awarded Medals
All heroes whose acts were noted by the commission were awarded the coveted bronze medal of the Carnegie Hero Fund. Six of the heroes lost their own lives while saving, or attempting to rescue, fellow beings from peril, and the medals for these six were posthumously awarded to their nearest relatives.

In contrast to the last awards announced by the commission, in which several girls and women were honored, today's announcement revealed that only one girl was among the heroes accorded recognition. She is Miss Maxie Smith, of Cartersville, Ga.

To the dependants of one of the men who lost his life, pensions aggregating $960 a year were granted to be applied as the commission may sanction. In addition to these money grants, awards aggregating $8,300 were appropriated for educational purposes in five cases, payments to be made as needed and approved, and in eight cases awards aggregating $6,500 were made for other worthy purposes.

Gandhi Confers With Congress

Mahatma Gandhi And All-India Working Congress Committee Are In Session

WILL NOT CALL OFF MOVEMENT

(International News Service)
BOMBAY, Jan. 29.—The attention of all persons interested in the cessation of civil strife in India were centered on Allahabad, "India's city of God," today as Mahatma Gandhi instigator of the civil disobedience movement, met other members of the all-India congress working committee.

India's holy man arrived in Allahabad yesterday evening, following his release from jail on Monday. He avoided huge crowds waiting to welcome him with enthusiasm similar to that of Bombay throngs on Tuesday by leaving his train a few miles out of the city and motoring to the city.

In interviews since his release Gandhi has declared that the civil disobedience movement will not be called off until the political prisoners arrested in India since January 1930, have been released. Reports from New Delhi indicate that the Indian government has no intention of releasing political prisoners en masse.

Prospects of the endorsement of Prime Minister MacDonald's offer of eventual self rule to India by the congress committee are distinctly not bright.

Observations In 7th Ward

Before this world can ever be Utopia there are two things that simply must be done, according to one of our pool sharks. North Cedar street must be repaved and the roads of Shenango township must be repaved.

Speaking of the Baltimore and Ohio "5510" locomotive that runs through here, a local banking teller mentions that it has a 74 inch driver. That gives a hint as to the size of the engine.

A lad five or six years of age and just about so high, was the center of attention in the ward fire department, Wednesday afternoon. He was dressed in a Daniel Boone hunting outfit and had a gun over his shoulder. R. G. Clark explained the boy's outfit by saying that he had been out bear hunting. "Did you get any bears?" the boy was asked. "I got hic-cups," he answered!

A Lindbergh in the making—boy with a small model airplane flew down Liberty street, Wednesday afternoon. He had a leather helmet and goggles on his head, and was quite pleased with the way his plane performed.

No trace remains of the old Raney flour mill, according to several local residents, but the old Raney homestead still stands. The flour mill was one of the flourishing industries over a half century ago.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Jan. 29.—Death toll from the fire which swept through the remodeled log home of Clyde Smith, at Powys, near here, killing Smith and six of his children, rose to eight today with the death of Mrs. Smith, who succumbed to burns in a hospital here.

An infant son, Mahlon, carried from the blazing house by Mrs. Smith, is in a critical condition at the hospital and physicians said he may not live.

Williamsport firemen and officials who went to the scene of the blaze to aid in a search for the bodies of Smith and the six dead children were unable to locate any of the dead.

A few bones, burned to an ash, were located in the ruins of the house, they reported, but none could be identified. It was believed the huge stone chimney, crashing down when the roof collapsed, crushed the bodies of the seven dead beneath its heated mass.

Cause of the blaze has not yet been determined.

Third Suspect In Roux Holdup Held In Lawrence Jail

Raniolo, Father Of Three Children, Joins Desmond And Sankert For Court Trial

Sam Rainolo, 28, alleged member of the robber quartet that held up three in the Roux feed and coal store in New Wilmington, December 13, is at last in a cell in the Lawrence county jail, following a drawn out fight by the suspect who thwarted early extradition hopes of the district attorney and county detective.

Raniolo, whose home is on Webb street, Youngstown, received a brief hearing before Alderman W. E. Marshall Wednesday afternoon, following a plea of not guilty entered by his counsel.

The latest suspect to be captured for the New Wilmington robbery was defended by a corps of four attorneys, two of whom were present at the hearing.

C. J. Klump, manager and part owner of the Water street, New Wilmington, store, who was held up together with his son and a customer late in the afternoon on December 13, testified again. His previous testimony was instrumental in sending Francis "Happy" Desmond and John Sankert, alias John Sanders, to the county jail to await the March term of court.

Raniolo is the father of three children. His wife was not present at the hearing. Mrs. Frances Raniolo, the mother, and Rose, a sister, were in the alderman's office.

County Detective H. Martin Lee, who represented the commonwealth in the absence of the district attorney, produced Klump as his only witness. The store manager said he identified Raniolo as one of the bandits who covered him with a gun while the others tied him. Although Raniolo is said by the manager to be the robber who wore a mask at the holdup, in which over $160 was taken, Klump declared that he identified Raniolo at the police "standup" in Youngstown.

Klump produced a detailed drawing plan of the Roux store and the vicinity. The plan was studied by defense counsel.

With the apprehension of Raniolo the Lawrence county authorities now have three alleged members of the bandit quartet. The fourth man in the robbery will probably never be caught, since Klump has said he could not identify him because he did not come near the interior of the store.

Raniolo temporarily forfeited a bond of $7,500 following his first arrest in Youngstown for the New Wilmington robbery. After he had been apprehended a second time his counsel balked extradition to New Castle and demanded a hearing in Youngstown before Judge Moore prior to coming here. The district attorney's office waited over a week for the judge's decision and the suspect was finally taken to the Lawrence county jail.

It is reported that Raniolo gave himself up following his disappearance after bond had been posted. Due to the array of counsel, the trial of Raniolo will undoubtedly prove of interest.

Dr. Bennett Sees Religion Changing With Modern Age

Says Tendencies Strengthening Church, In Talk Before Phalanx

That religion today is undergoing a slow transition along with the march of time—a transition leading toward a greater spirit of Christian union and more cooperation in the Christian service, is the belief Dr. G. S. Bennett, First Christian church pastor expressed in a talk before the Phalanx fraternity in the Y. M. C. A. last night.

Dr. Bennett, who has appeared before the group before, was speaking on "The Modern Tendencies of Religion."

"One today must have an open mind," the minister said. "That person whose mind is not flexible enough to adjust itself to the modern age is at a sad disadvantage. I would say. Today, in fact, you must have an open mind in everything, not only in the field of religion."

The minister made mention of the fact that while some have kept apace with the changing trend in business, in science and in other things, they are satisfied nevertheless to stay behind in religious thought.

Less Emotional Now
Pointing out specific modern day tendencies, as he interprets them, Dr. Bennett said the most outstanding to his way of thinking is toward a more intellectual type of religion. Religion today isn't so much the emotional experience as it was 100 years ago, and he illustrated this.

A more liberal interpretation of religion is another tendency, while there is likewise a strong tendency toward the practical side, toward a greater spirit of Christian union and brotherhood, he declared.

In closing, the pastor said that his theory is and will continue to be that the more we work together the better we'll understand each other, the better we'll love one another, and the better we'll see of the differences that separate us in religious thought.

During a short business meeting which followed the address, February 27 was announced as the date for the fraternity's third annual dinner-dance.

Pinchot Admonishes Men To Take Interest In Their Government

"Give Government Same Attention You Do Your Business" Pinchot Declares

Chamber Of Commerce Endorses Legislative Program In Harrisburg Session

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 29.—"Take the same interest in your government as you do in your business. Demand from it the same efficiency."

That was the plea delegates to the annual meeting of the State Chamber of Commerce carried home with them today from Governor Gifford Pinchot and Senator George H. Moses (R) of New Hampshire, heading the speakers at the annual banquet of the chamber here.

Touching but lightly on public utilities and his highway program, the Governor attacked the expensive conduct of the Philadelphia government by "the Republican machines," and denounced the board of revision of taxes, the bureau of weights and measures and the office of recorder of deeds there as "cobwebbed stables in which political hacks grow fat in idleness."

"Passing Buck"
"No two things would so regenerate the political life of the state as business men and church members taking their part in the affairs of the commonwealth," the Governor asserted.

"Our national motto now is 'pass the buck,'" Sen. Moses declared following the Governor's speech.

"There is a constant turning to the state and federal governments to do what once the individual and the community took pride in doing for themselves."

One in every 20 residents of the country, the New Hampshire senator said, is attached in some way to the municipal, state or federal payroll.

"The things Governor Pinchot said are right," Sen. Moses declared. "If business men are not willing to confront the problem and study it as means of their own enlightenment, there is no remedy."

The State Chamber endorsed a legislative program favoring laws permitting all cities to adopt the managerial form of government; taking no definite stand on the mercantile tax; recommending tax modification; opposing any old-age pension system paid entirely by the state and opposing a garnishee law and increase in workmen's compensation payments.

The Harbor W. C. T. U. met Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock at the home of Mrs. Francis Pinkerton. The devotionals were in charge of Mrs. A. P. Eklund and consisted of songs, scripture readings and sentence prayers.

The letter of the state president was read by Mrs. Herman Byler, president of the Harbor union. Various reports of an interesting and important nature were presented by Mrs. Frank Neal, the corresponding secretary.

There was considerable discussion held concerning the taking of articles to the Soldier's Hospital at Aspinwall. Miss Blanch Perkins was appointed as temporary treasurer. Directories of the County W. C. T. U. were given out by Mrs. Herman Byler, the president. A report of the Victory Luncheon was given by Mrs. H. J. Kennehan.

It was decided to invite the Nashua Union to the next meeting and have Mrs. Beam of New Castle give an account of the National W. C. T. U. convention held at Houston, Texas.

The next meeting will be held February 19, at the home of Mrs. Herman Byler.

The meeting Wednesday was closed with the Lord's Prayer.

Councils Girl To Keep High Ideals And Endure Seemingly Narrow Home

Parents Will Not Accept Advice Of Children Doctor Myers Says, So Be Patient And Avoid Arguments

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education,
Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

"Dear Dr. Myers: I read your very interesting articles in the paper every morning. You are so broad-minded; that is why I am writing to you for advice.

"I have been unhappy at home because my father disagrees with me about everything. I read excellent books and inspirational magazines; love culture and society. Dad never reads anything except the newspapers. He tells mother to throw my magazines out. He cares nothing for social life or culture.

"Dr. Myers, I want to respect my father, but if he continues to say the ignorant things he says, then I cannot. I seldom talk to him because if I do he disagrees with me. He says things that are absurd! For instance—he says a child who will not attend school is to blame for his lack of education. I think a parent should have character enough to compel the child to attend school. Please, Dr. Myers, answer this question so that I may have peace of mind. Is a little child to blame if a parent does not make him attend school? Shouldn't a parent have control over his children?

"I have a brother, 16, in high school. He should go to bed early, but does not because my parents allow him to do as he likes. They say that they cannot make him do it. Does this sound absurd to you, Dr. Myers?

"I was never taught anything about sex, but I want my brother to know about it. I have begged mother for three years to tell him about it, but I am sure she never will. Why do my parents act like this? And why do they expect love and respect from me?

"We have a pretty home and car, but I am unhappy because my parents lack knowledge and the culture they should have.

"I attended the New England Conservatory in Boston two years ago. I was very happy there.

"Mother is adorable, but she has never lived a very peaceful life. Dad says dancing is a low form of making love.

"Oh, Dr. Myers, I can't tolerate such thinking—such evil-mindedness! My mind is pure and my ideals are high. Why do they, mother and dad, think such things?

Answer: My dear Young Friend: Your letter touched me very much. I think I know how you feel.

Of course you must remember that your father is your father, and that he is much older than you are. No matter how good your advice may be, he naturally will not give it much consideration. If I were you, I should not argue with him, but try in your gentle, loving way to win him to your point of view.

Of course parents are primarily responsible for their children going on to school, but the best of parents sometimes find it hard to get results. So be patient.

If I were you I would go to the library and read there, "Growing Up," by Karl de Schweinitz. Just go on doing the best you can, holding by your ideals and living the most useful life you know how. You surely have my most sincere good wishes.

Norwegian lines rule in skiing costumes. Long trousers of plaid woolen and tight fitting boleros buttoned to the necks and made of suede-like material, are soft and comfortable. Bright colors predominate, green being a favorite.

"I'm so glad we found a breakfast they like."

"Thank goodness for Shredded Wheat! The children just wouldn't eat breakfast and I was so tired of coaxing them. But when they tried the crisp, tasty biscuits, floating in milk and cream, they were delighted. And best of all—Shredded Wheat is ideal for children. It's just the food to build bone and muscle."

Who made the first photograph?

Louis Daguerre, a French painter and physicist, was the inventor of photography in the form of the daguerotype. He was born in 1789 and first became a scene painter. About 1829 he interested himself in the discoveries which have become famous under his name. Together with Nicéphore Niepce, who had been studying in the same direction, he invented the art of photography on metal, the well-known daguertype process, the improvement of which was to result in modern photography.

Who was Thomas Nelson Page?

Thomas Nelson Page was an American writer born on Oakland plantation, Hanover county, Virginia, April 23, 1853. He was educated at Washington and Lee University and practiced law in Richmond, Va., later moving to Washington, D. C. In 1913 he was appointed by President Wilson as ambassador to Italy. Mr. Page's novels and stories, with few exceptions, deal with Virginia and are noted for their sympathetic portrayal of the aristocracy of that state just before, during and after the Civil War, and also for their studies of the negro slavery days and after. He died in 1922.

In what country is Monte Carlo? Monte Carlo is in the principality of Monaco on the Mediterranean sea.

What is a hornbook?

A hornbook was the first school book. The general form is that of the old-fashioned butter paddle. In its primitive form it was made of wood, with the lesson that the child was to learn printed on a piece of paper, fastened to the wooden paddle, and covered with a piece of horn. This strip of horn was made by soaking a cow's horn in hot water and peeling it until it was about the thickness of an ordinary piece of celluloid and fully as transparent. From the original wooden hornbook were developed others made of brass, copper, silver, ivory, bronze, leather, stone, paper and various other materials. Some of these books had the alphabet carved into the material of which the frame or handle was made. The hornbook was used in practically all countries and especially in Germany, France, Belgium, Holland, Italy, England, the United States, Mexico and Egypt.

Use Traps To Aid Game Distribution

HARRISBURG, Jan. 29.—Field employees of the game commission are now engaged in trapping various kinds of animals in locations where they are too plentiful or cannot be hunted and transferring them to other places.

In one section of Erie county which cannot be opened to public hunting a deputy game protector trapped 900 native cotton-tail rabbits and released them where they may be hunted.

In the southeastern part of the state game commission employees are centering their efforts in the trapping of ring-neck pheasants. In some sections where farmers have complained the birds are so plentiful as to be a nuisance. At other places the sexes are not properly balanced.

What Is Gum-Dipping?

Gum-Dipping

is the Firestone trade name for that patented, basic process which makes Firestone Tires fundamentally different from all other tires. It is one of the reasons why Firestone, through many years, has easily been able to make good the statement: "Most miles per dollar." It is not something done to a tire after it is made. It is something very vital done before the tire is made.

To grasp the full significance of Gum-Dipping, it is necessary to know something about how a tire is made and what goes on within a tire on the road. The body of the tire bears the principal strains in service. To it is attached the tread which provides traction and takes the wear of the road.

The usual tire body is built up of layers or plies of cotton cords between which rubber has been forced. Rubber is incompressible. Hence the tire body practically does not expand or contract to meet road shocks. It flexes—that is, it changes form.

The strain of the flexing tends to pull the plies apart and also to pull the cords themselves apart. A tire flexes about seven hundred times in a mile—which gives some idea of the strains and the friction which a tire must endure.

The great enemy to tire life is internal friction. Years ago the fabric was square-woven—and the cotton cords sawed, one across another.

If cotton rubs against cotton, the tire soon heats up and collapses. That is why the square-woven fabric tires were so short-lived. Then came the tires with parallel cords that could not saw each other. The best square-woven fabric tire would go scarcely four thousand miles. A poor cord tire will give at least twice that mileage. Making the cords parallel was a great advance—but it was only part of the battle against internal friction.

It was realized that if the fibers of cotton in a cord could be insulated one from another, then a step-up in tire life could be had comparable to that made by shifting from square-woven fabric to parallel cords. That is what all tire makers have been striving for. That is what Firestone has achieved.

Every cord

used in Firestone Tires has been treated with a rubber solution which penetrates every cord and coats every fiber; and thus not only the cords, but also the very fibers within them are insulated.

Eight pounds of fine, pure rubber are, by the patented Gum-Dipping process, integrated into every one hundred pounds of cotton cords. This means three extra pounds of pure rubber added to an average set of tires—and added where it means most to the strength and the life of the tire. This extra rubber all goes into the cords of the tire—where you never see it.

Why

does Firestone put in this extra value? And what does it mean to you? It means just this. The performance—the extra value—has been shown for years on the road and in the laboratory. It has been proved that Gum-Dipping:

—increases the flexing life of a cotton cord by 58%.

—increases tire life by from 25% to over 40%, according to the severity of the service—the more severe the service, the higher the percentage.

Firestone

Gum-Dipped Tires are not just tires. They are thirty years of organized experience. They are sold only through Firestone Service Dealers and Service Stores and only as Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires—bearing the Firestone name and bearing the Firestone emblem that appears on this page.

Wherever you live—

city or country—a fresh and complete stock of Firestone products is near-by.

Bo Broadway by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

By Central Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Lee "Harlem" Posner, one of Tammany Town's army of night club press agents, was so busy he didn't get around to sending out his New Year greetings till about a week ago.

Receiving a card wishing you a happy and prosperous new year somewhere around Lincoln's birthday is a change in the way of variety that has much to commend it. Let's hope it becomes popular.

We've long needed some stagger system to relieve the pressure of good-will generated in the last week of each December.

Spreading this Oh-Let's-Be-Joyful, and I-Wish-You-Well stuff in judicious outlays at stated intervals through the year would be a decided improvement over the existing state of things.

SPEAKING OF "HARLEMANIA" He has the reputation of being a consistent loser at poker and paying his losses on the spot.

I may be prejudiced, but my idea is that we betides a country when a man can achieve a reputation by the mere fact that he settles his gambling debts promptly and in full.

When The Youngsters began to kick over tradition, one of the things that toppled with a deafening crash was the conservative prejudice affecting the sacredness of gambling. I. O. O's.

Sitting in a game in the old days, knowing you couldn't pay if you lost, simply wasn't done.

That, of course, was part of The Mauve Decade—The Gas Light Era. Today, among a certain class in Tammany Town, settling in full with the banker at the conclusion of a poker session qualifies a man as a Sap.

It's almost as bad as going on living with the woman you originally married.

DEBT OF HONOR

I know a man—a charming chap—who handed the banker in a poker game a check for $390.

The gentleman knew the check was no good when he wrote it; but he didn't have the guts to announce it in the presence of the other players that he had been sitting all evening gambling with their money.

As a matter of fact he didn't even wait till after the others had gone and accord the banker the courtesy of acquainting him with the true state of affairs.

Next morning, however, by telephone, he apprised the banker of the fact, and several days later forwarded $200 on account.

By protracted dunning the banker managed to corral another $40, leaving a balance of $150.

At the end of six months the banker wired the sportsman as follows: "When do you intend to pay that hundred and fifty question mark it represents money I advanced out of my own pocket comma believing that when you signed your illustrious John Hancock to a check it meant something stop when a man gives his monicker to a rubber check in a poker game he thereby chalks up the price at which he is willing to sell his self-respect exclamation point how about it question mark."

Two weeks later the sportsman wired back, collect: "Am astonished at your insistence and want of faith in my integrity stop these are hard times dash and how exclamation point keep shirt on stop I regard this as a del. of honor."

PLAY AND WIN

All of which recalls the old story of the astute Wall Street habitue who took his spendthrift son to task for the size of his gambling debts passed over to Pop to liquidate.

"Gentlemen must gamble," said the son.

"And by the same token," replied the Old Man, "gentlemen must win."

FREE FROM WORRY

In a recent Broadway night club fracas a young man was beaten shot and stabbed.

"It's all right, honey," said his Lady Friend, "we'll get 'em. Don't you worry."

The young man looked up at her and smiled.

"I won't," he said.

And he didn't.

A fact you should not overlook

More red-cells in the blood! Good health and resistance to infection and disease, depend on that! Loss of appetite, underweight, sluggishness, a weakened condition, nervousness, pimples and boils are symptoms, often seen, of a deficiency of red-cells in the blood. If a lowered red-cell count is allowed to continue, ANEMIA often results. S.S.S. should be your safeguard. A hundred years of experience has proved its usefulness in building red-cells in the blood. Take it before meals. Millions of people have found it the easiest and surest way to restore their red-blood-cells. The appetite picks up, the whole body is invigorated. Get S.S.S.—take it and possess a wonderful power of new life and vitality. Ask for the large size. At all drug stores.

Buffalo Pastor Chosen Bishop

Rev. Dr. Wyatt Brown, Buffalo, Selected Bishop Of Harrisburg Diocese

DELEGATES ARE ENROUTE HOME

(International News Service)
YORK, Pa., Jan. 29.—Having elected the Rev. Dr. Wyatt Brown, dean of St. Paul's Cathedral of Buffalo, N. Y., to the bishopric of the Harrisburg diocese, delegates to the 27th annual Diocesan Convention of the Protestant Episcopal church were en route home today.

Dr. Brown was elected bishop of the diocese, to succeed the late Bishop James Henry Darlington, of Harrisburg, on the eighth ballot, after delegates had voted all day without rolling up a majority for any one of a dozen odd candidates.

Will Accept Post
The Rev. Squire Schofield, of Muncy, who nominated Dr. Brown for the bishopric, said he believed the Buffalo dean would accept the post.

A committee from the diocese will wait upon Dr. Brown at once and officially inform him of his election. Selection of Dr. Brown was the second time delegates from the diocese had voted on a successor to Bishop Darlington. At a special diocesan meeting here November 18 and 19, Suffragan Bishop W. Blair Roberts, of South Dakota, was elected to the place a fortnight later, however, he declined it.

Standing convention committee members of the diocese were chosen after the Episcopal election had been disposed of, and C. S. Brinton, Carlisle, P. W. Culbertson, Lewistown, S. B. Heighes, York, W. B. Hamaker, Lancaster, and F. K. Lukenbach, Tyrone, were named to the committee.

Greenville Kiwanians placed first in the state with an average of 96.43, and Sharon, with 91.06, placed third.

Garage Home Swept By Flames During Early Morning Fire

Summer Avenue Blaze Brings Firemen At 2 A. M.; Damage Reported At $900

Believed to have started from a defective chimney, fire brought considerable damage to household property and a frame garage in the rear of 423 Summer avenue shortly after 2 a. m. today.

The garage was used as living quarters and storage house for the William Wilson family, while the head of the family, a carpenter, was building a new home on a front lot. Damage was estimated at about $900 by Wilson. Firemen set the loss at $600.

The fire was discovered by "Plum" Cannon, a friend of Joseph W. Wilson, son of the head of the family. Cannon had been visiting his friend late Wednesday and discovered the fire. Wilson and his son were living in the newly finished home.

About three rooms of furniture and other household goods that had not yet been removed to the new building were ruined. Mrs. Wilson is in Detroit. Two daughters were also away at the time of the fire.

The fire originated, investigators believe, after a spark from the chimney settled on the "attic" floor portion of the story-and-a-half garage. The south side of the garage was badly damaged. The roof was two thirds burned.

Firemen remained at the fire for an hour and a half, before returning to their stations. The loss is covered by insurance.

Free Wood Given For Unemployed

J. H. Mitchell, a farmer near West Middlesex, has offered free firewood to all who will come to his farm and cut it. Quite a number have already taken advantage of the opportunity. Others are trying to find axes and saws with which to cut the wood.

PLANNING MISSION
Mrs. Freeman Whitson, of Cleveland, Ohio, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Edgington, of East Washington street, is planning to start a mission at Los Vegas, Nevada, the prospective boulder dam district. Mrs. Whitson is hoping that the mission will be ready in July.

Catarrh Causes Head Noises and Deafness.

Great European Remedy Opens up Clogged Nostrils and Relieves Catarrhal Deafness

Few people realize what a serious disease catarrh really is. If neglected, the damage it does is often irreparable. Deafness, lung troubles and strong, and with drive the sufferer nearly frantic are frequently due to this insidious disease, which neglect of catarrh often makes its victim into a worn-out rindown catarrhal wreck. What is catarrh today may soon be something far more serious. It is more than a trifling ailment—more than a disgusting disease. It is a dangerous one. Unchecked it frequently destroys smell, taste and hearing, and slowly but surely undermines the general health.

If you have catarrh go to New Castle Drug Co., Eckerd's or your druggist and get an ounce of Parmitin (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and a little ordinary sugar. Take a tablespoonful four times a day.

Musmanno Plans Action On Bill

Rep. M. A. Musmanno, Allegheny Will Press Enactment Of Coal-Iron Police Bill

PINCHOT'S PLAN IS NOT FAVORED

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 29.—Rep. M. A. Musmanno, Allegheny, whose bill providing for the abolishment of the Coal and Iron police and their substitution with "property guards" is now in the Judiciary General committee, today declared that Governor Pinchot's action on the Coal and Iron police has only partially solved the problem and that the new police system outlined by the governor in his inaugural address represents a worse menace than the old force.

Musmanno said that he would make every effort to press his own bill for passage and to persuade the governor to accept it. The bill provides for property guards with limited powers, paid and trained by the industries.

Objection Raised
One objection registered against the Pinchot plan by the Civil Liberties union, which has announced support in principle of the Musmanno bill, is that the police system proposed by the governor is a force elected and commanded by the commonwealth and, the officers being state officials, injured persons could not obtain relief since there is no redress against state officers.

A letter from Musmanno to Governor Pinchot was en route to Harrisburg today, bearing Musmanno's congratulations to the executive on the cancelling the commissions of the Coal and Iron police as of June 30 but seeking to persuade Pinchot to change his mind on what he will use to replace the system.

Pittsburgh News Agency Is Robbed

Three Armed Bandits Stage Daring Holdup Of News Agency—Get $500

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 29.—Cowing their two victims with harsh words, and ready guns three armed and unmasked bandits today escaped with more than $500 in cash after holding up the Central News agency on Strawberry Way here.

Charles Morall, 45, the night manager, and Daniel Sanford, 24, were the only persons in the agency when the bandits entered. While two of the men drew guns and ordered Morall and Sanford to raise their hands, the third member of the gang stood guard in the doorway. The pair inside took several sacks of silver which had been concealed under the counter and which contained more than $350 in small coins wrapped in small rolls for banking.

Sanford and Morall were herded into a back room where the two men obtained an additional $156 in cash which Morall was carrying in his clothing. Sanford had no cash.

Rejoining their companion in the doorway, the three gunmen fled after warning their victims against an outcry. During the holdup the bandits kept their faces hidden in upturned coat collars.

Making Religion More Up To Date

Rabbi Menkes Will Speak On Subject At Temple Israel Friday

From all sides comes the clamor that Religion be made up to date and that it be modernized with the spirit of the day.

But modernism is a cloak for many tendencies and expressions, like a prism it reflects colors of many varieties; it has its lights and shadows, elevations and depressions. We are therefore confronted with the question what elements of modernism should be embodied in Religion?

Shall we just yield to popular slogans, or shall we use discrimination, winnow out the chaff and retain the golden grain of modernism?

This subject will be discussed by Rabbi Menkes at the regular Friday evening services at Temple Israel tomorrow night at 8:00 o'clock. Sabbath morning services will be held at 10:30 a. m. After the Friday evening services there will be a social hour.

Kelly-Capper Bill Provokes Debate In House Session Today

Bill Aimed At Chain Store Systems Threatens Legislative Battle

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—The Kelly-Capper bill, backed as a blow at chain store systems, threatened to precipitate a free-for-all legislative battle in the house today as it was presented for debate and a final vote.

Rep. Kelly (R) of Pennsylvania, co-author of the measure, prepared to lead the fight for the measure, which has been agitated in congress for 15 years in some form.

The bill is designed to permit manufacturers of trade-marked products to make contracts requiring retailers to maintain a fixed price on its product.

The manufacturer would be protected from prosecution under the anti-trust laws. Rep. Cox (D) of Georgia, leading the opposition, branded the bill a price-fixing measure designed to permit great combinations to dictate to all retailers.

Franklin Chamber Of Commerce Writes To Senators And Representatives

(International News Service)
FRANKLIN, Pa., Jan. 29.—Letters and telegrams today were sent to senators and representatives of the state by the local Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club whose directors unanimously endorsed a resolution calling upon congress to enact a protective tariff on crude oil imports.

Oil men in the district have voiced repeated claims that the large shipments of the foreign product are nullifying effects of the curtailed production scheme in force in this section.

The resolutions ask the government to act on the proposed tariff at an early date to stabilize the Pennsylvania market.

For 25 cents a week the movie unemployed can use the Film Players' Club as an address where casting directors can reach them. There, too, they find comradeship, and, in late afternoon, warm, golden coffee. Though the roulette discs are stilled, the club still is a center for "gamblers"—those who gamble on a career.

KONJOLA ENEMY OF NEURITIS

Read How New And Different Medicine Put To Rout This Cruel And Stubborn Ailment.

Here is good news for all who suffer from neuritis and may fear there is no escape from its cruel clutches.

MRS. MARY McLAUGHLIN

Tens of thousands, victims of this dread affliction, have, like Mrs. Mary McLaughlin, 1416 Grays Ferry Road, Philadelphia, found Konjola to be the very medicine they needed. She says: "A year ago Konjola did for me what no other medicine I tried could do. I had suffered from neuritis for a year, with intense pains shooting from shoulders to finger-tips. I could not dress myself, and sat all day with my hands in my lap. I took nine bottles of Konjola and obtained complete relief. I have been doing, at 70, all my housework and washing. I can truthfully say that I never felt better in my life."

An unusual case, you ask? Not at all! The records of Konjola fairly overflow with such happy experiences.

Konjola is sold by Love & McGown, The Druggists, 204 East Washington St., this city.

Franklin Loses Twenty Players

Twenty Members Of Orchestra And Band Of Ben Franklin Will Be Promoted To High

Benjamin Franklin junior high school instrumental department is sending a number of well trained musicians to the New Castle senior high school, this mid-year promotion.

Miss Evea Coulter, supervisor of the department, announces that 11 violin players are leaving the Franklin senior orchestra for senior high school; 1 viola; 1 trumpet; 1 trombone; 1 French horn; 1 xylophone; 2 clarinets and 1 saxophone.

New Musicians Plan To Enroll

The lineup for the Benjamin Franklin junior high school "junior

D. S. Pyle Is Re-Elected To State Chamber

Local Industrial Leader Is Again Honored By State Chamber Of Commerce

LOCAL WATERWAY PROJECT PRESENTED

D. S. PYLE

D. S. Pyle, manager of the Shenango works of the American Sheet & Tin Plate company, was signally honored by the Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce at its 12th annual meeting in Harrisburg, Wednesday, when he was re-elected a director of the state chamber for a three-year period.

Mr. Pyle was named a member of the board of directors about a year ago and his re-election is a tribute to his industrial ability. The district gained further representation on the board of directors through the election of Harry Wimer of Butler for a period of one year.

One of the important projects presented to the board was that of the canalization of the Beaver, Mahoning and Shenango rivers, which was placed before the board by Alfred W. Chilton, secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce in behalf of Mr. Pyle.

The proposal was accepted and referred to a committee for study before endorsement.

Many different matters were on the program Wednesday, and a number of competent speakers were heard by the directors and delegates.

The business sessions opened with a luncheon at noon, with President Alba B. Johnson presiding. The matter discussed at the luncheon was "Pennsylvania Public Service Law and Its Administration."

Frank M. Hunter of Chester spoke on "Purposes of the law and its chief features." H. C. Spurr, New York editor, spoke on "How the law has been administered," while Attorney Harold Evans of Philadelphia spoke on "Strengthening the Present Law and Its Administration."

Morris Leads of Philadelphia, a member of the Hoover emergency employment committee, spoke on "Stabilizing Employment." "Old Age Pensions" were discussed by Ingalls Kimball, director of group annuities of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. "The State Mercantile License Tax" was discussed by Herbert J. Tilly, president of Strawbridge and Clothier of Philadelphia.

Reports of the nominating committee and resolutions committee were represented at the close of the afternoon session.

The annual banquet was held in the evening, with Frank J. Lanahan, vice president of the state Chamber of Commerce, presiding as toastmaster.

Addresses were made by Governor Gifford Pinchot and Hon. George H. Moses, U. S. senator from New Hampshire and president pro tem of the senate.

At the meeting of the state councilors Wednesday morning, Frank W. Main of Pittsburgh presented the subject, "Industrial development work by local chambers," which was followed by a general discussion.

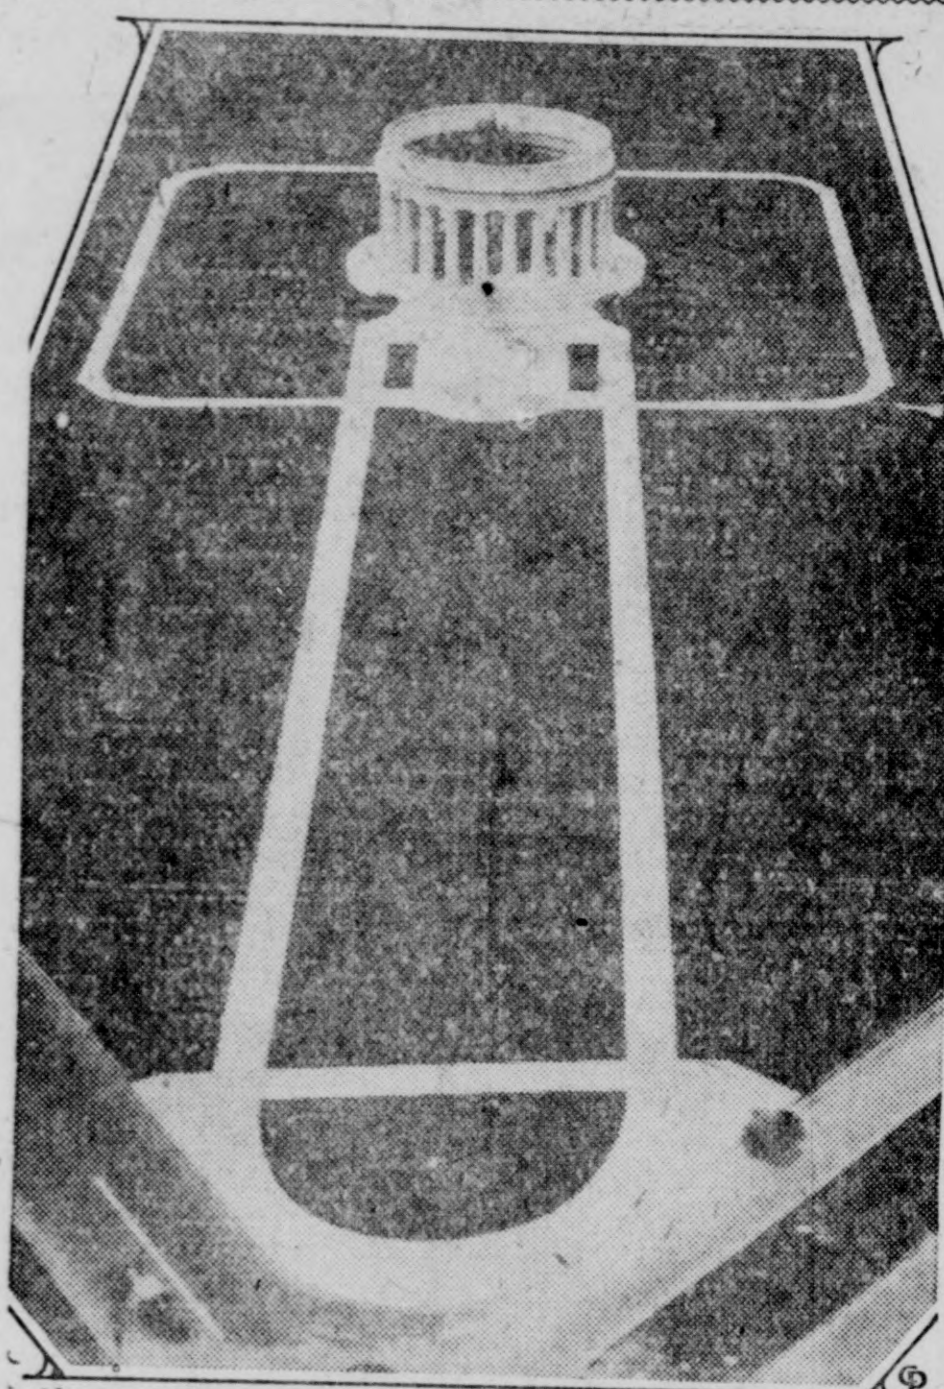

Report New Cure For Birthmarks

(International News Service)

PARIS, Jan. 29.—Birthmarks are curable, according to the medical correspondent of a Parisian daily, explaining that a freezing away method has proved to be the most satisfactory. It is done with special "snow" obtained from a carbon dioxide gas cylinder. The snow, which gives a temperature as low as minus 80 degrees Centigrade, is moulded into solid sticks and applied directly to the birthmark with the object of destroying it. Very little pain is felt and after a time all that is left of the "Naevus," which is the technical term for the collection of tiny blood-vessels under the skin, is an almost invisible scar.

Cauterization with acids and other agents are sometimes used but great caution must be exercised. Radium is also beneficial but more costly.

HARDING TOMB AWAITS DEDICATION

Residents of Marion, O., are preparing for the dedication of the memorial to former President Warren G. Harding, in the near future, after a delay of several years. Reluctance of Calvin Coolidge and President Hoover to participate in the dedicatory ceremonies has been given, at Marion, as the reason for the delay. Citizens believe only a president or a former president should make the address. Recently President Hoover accepted the invitation to speak at the ceremony. It is understood that former President Coolidge also will come. This is an excellent aerial photo of the tomb in which lie the remains of both President and Mrs. Harding.

Fund Is Nearing Exhaustion Says Councilman Treser

Councilman Stanley Treser stated today that the appropriation which was made by council to pay wages of men who work on The Narrows and Meyer Avenue storm sewer is running low.

The city appropriated $10,000 and later another $10,000, from the $70,000, the city revived from the sale of the conduit system to the Bell Telephone company. Recently the city appropriated $50,000 or the balance of the fund to an appropriation to take care of the city's liability for new improvements.

Treser said the fund, in his opinion, would be sufficient to keep men at work until Meyer Avenue and The Narrows projects are completed. Asked what the third project would be the councilman said as yet he is not in a position to state.

Advices Wife To Shun Table Talk

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 29.—Judge Alvin J. Pearson of Cuyahoga county court of common pleas, who tries more than 2,500 divorce cases every year, recently compiled a set of rules for the guidance of husband and wife who wished to preserve their marital happiness. The rules are three for the wife:

Never let your husband eat out of a tin can.
Don't keep all of the comforts and nice things in the home for visitors only.
Don't discuss your troubles at the dinner table.
And three for the husband:
Don't nag, grouse or sulk.
Don't neglect your wife and make her unhappy.
And above all, don't go to sleep until you have settled any differences.

Manhattans Win From Fintex 34-28

Spurt In Third Period Puts Ellwood Team Ahead For Victory

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 29.—Coming up from behind in the third period the Ellwood City Manhattans put on a spurt to deadlock the game and in the closing stanza out scored the Fintex 9-3 to win the game by a 34-28 score.

The Manhattans had mustered their strongest combination for this game and as a result still share honors for the second half with the Lafayette. It was extremely difficult to penetrate the defense of either team until the final period when the Manhattans had uncorked a baffling offense which began to count in succession. The game was featured with a long difficult, and fancy shots that kept the largest crowd to ever attend the auditorium for a basketball game this season, in an uproar.

The initial period was featured with close guarding and neither quintet being able to score until the quarter was well on its way. The Fintex began the tallying when Klinzing sinks two beautiful shots from the center of the floor. Ellwood seemingly could not locate the hoops after having several tries from the court. Their first score came when Lewis, Lloyd, and Blair each accounted for one from the charity line. The visitors widened their margin with two more baskets and Little narrowed it down with the home team's first field goal. The quarter ended with the Fintex leading 8-5.

In the ensuing quarter it was evident that the Manhattans had located the basket for Lloyd tallied twice with two long one-handed shots and Blair repeated his feat. Ketchell of the Fintex had counted two from the charity mark but Blair balanced this gain with registering from under the basket. Then Miller of the visitors had gotten away twice in succession and once again after Lewis accounted for a foul and registered each time. Angelo repeats for the Fintex. The end of the period saw the invaders still in the lead at 19-17.

Tachosky had entered the fray in the third quarter for Lloyd as the tip off artist and the Ellwood offense improved exceedingly. The invaders started the scoring when Klinzing and Ketchell tallied from the court. Lewis repeated under the basket for the Manhattans and Klinzing maintained the lead upon tipping the ball in after leaving the bank board. Then in quick succession Lewis, Blair, and Little tallied from the court after a fast attack and tied the score at 25 all.

The closing stanza proved to be a complete rout for the Manhattans. With an unrevealed heretofore passing attack Little, Tachosky, and Blair tallied in rapid succession and Blair again counting up two fouls brought the score to 34-25 for the locals. Kitchell near the close of the period managed to count once more from the court and also was awarded a foul which he sank. The home team hence played for time and the game soon ended with the score standing at 34-28 for the Manhattans.

The lineup:
Manhattans 34 Fintex 28
Little Fintex
Blair Fintex
Lloyd Fintex
Klinzing Fintex
Ketchell Fintex
Fitzgerald Fintex
Lewis Fintex
Substitutions: Ellwood—Tachosky for Lloyd, Fintex—Serbin for Angelo, Demario for Leisnring. Field goals: Ellwood, Blair 4, Little 3, Tachosky, Lloyd, Lewis 2, Fintex: Klinzing 4, Miller 3, Angelo, Ketchell 2. Fouls: Ellwood 8 out of 14, Fintex 6 out of 15.

Reserves Lose To New Wilmington

Game Requires Extra Period To Determine The Winner

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 29.—Upon necessitating an extra period to decide the issue the Ellwood Merchants, formerly the Manhattan Reserves, dropped their first game of the season to the New Wilmington Merchants by a 26-26 score. Wetlich of the invaders in the last 30 seconds of play sank a shot from the middle of the floor to deadlock the game. An extra period was allotted and Wetlich again counted up the winning tally for the visitors.

The whole game was fast and exciting. Neither team was able to get away to a commanding lead at any time. It was close and hard fought all the way. The Ellwood Merchants led 9-7 in the first quarter and again 15-14 at mid-way.

The third period began with both quintets being very cautious and playing defensively. The home team registered the first basket from the court in this period and scored again before the visitors were able to do so. But they came back with a two-pointer soon after, and the Ellwood boys again maintained their lead when Friedhoff scored from the court. Then two buckets in succession by the invaders deadlocked the game. The lead hence was constantly interchanging until at the end of the period the game was deadlocked at 23 all.

The closing stanza kept the fine crowd on edge until the final whistle. Each team had counted one from the charity mark and Ellwood took the lead when Clyde registered from the center of the floor, but his glory was short lived for Wetlich retaliated and the period ended with the game deadlocked at 25 all.

An extra period of five minutes was allotted and indeed it was a hair raiser. There was very close guarding and neither team could get into a satisfactory position to shoot. There were numerous long shots attempted which took the breath away until in the final 20 seconds of play Wetlich of the visitors accredited his team with the winning tally from the center of the floor. The game, after one more play, ended with the score standing 28-26 for the New Wilmington Merchants.

HIGHLIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

16. General von Steuben—Appointed Major General

BEFORE THE END OF SPRING, 1778, THE CONTINENTAL ARMY AT VALLEY FORGE, THOUGH STILL LACKING MANY NECESSITIES, HAD BECOME AN EFFICIENT FIGHTING MACHINE, THANKS TO VON STEUBEN'S SPLENDID WORK AS DRILLMASTER AND ORGANIZER.

(Copyright, 1930, by J. Carroll Mansfield)

IN APRIL, 1778, WASHINGTON WROTE TO CONGRESS, "I SHOULD DO INJUSTICE IF I WERE TO BE LONGER SILENT WITH REGARD TO THE MERITS OF BARON STEUBEN. HIS KNOWLEDGE OF HIS PROFESSION, ADDED TO THE ZEAL WHICH HE HAS DISPLAYED SINCE HE BEGAN UPON THE FUNCTIONS OF HIS OFFICE, LEADS ME TO CONSIDER HIM AN ACQUISITION TO THE SERVICE AND TO RECOMMEND HIM TO CONGRESS."

ON WASHINGTON'S RECOMMENDATION CONGRESS PASSED AN ACT MAKING VON STEUBEN A MAJOR GENERAL IN THE CONTINENTAL ARMY. HOWEVER, THERE WAS AN AGGRAVATING DELAY IN CONFIRMING THE APPOINTMENT.

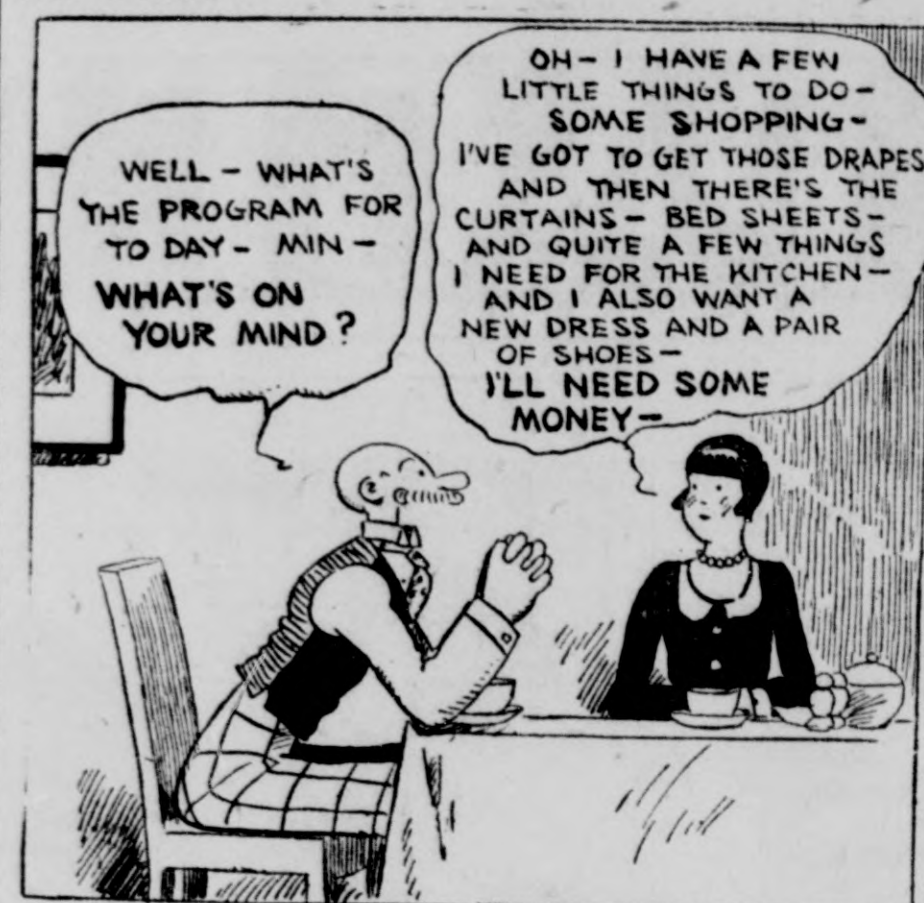

IN SPITE OF THE FACT THAT HIS OFFICIAL STATUS WAS STILL IN DOUBT, THE BARON ACCOMPANIED WASHINGTON WHEN THE ARMY AGAIN TOOK THE FIELD, AND PLAYED AN ACTIVE AND IMPORTANT PART IN THE NEW JERSEY CAMPAIGN OF 1778.

Will Use Wainio-Rowe In Washington Contest

Two High School "Stars"
Will Play Once Again
On Friday Night

New Castle High Cagers Prepare For Washington
High Quintet

Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh, mentor of the undefeated New Castle high school quintet announced today that Francis Wainio and Luther Rowe, the high school's two star passers will play on Friday night against Washington high at Washington, Pa.

Coach Bridenbaugh stated that due to the fact that the contest will be a non-league affair he will be able to use the two boys who are ineligible in the W. P. I. A. L. game Friday will be the last one for the two cagers. Wainio and Rowe played their final game in the W. P. I. A. L. league on last Friday night against Butler high.

Both boys will occupy their regular berths at forwards with Lasky at center and N. Uram and McAuley at guards at Washington. New Castle has been practicing since Monday afternoon in preparation for the game Friday night. Although the contest will have no bearing on the league standing it means something in several ways.

A victory for New Castle will mean the twelfth straight win. A loss will tarnish the clean record made so far this season and will mark the second defeat in two years for the high passers. So you can see why Coach Bridenbaugh is eager to have his boys hang the second defeat this season on the Coach Hank Day machine.

Earlier in the season the local five pinned a 29-17 defeat on the Washington high boys but since then Washington has been going "great guns," having turned back some sweet quintets in that district. Although the contest will not be played here fans will watch with interest the outcome of the tilt and will also watch closely the finish Wainio and Rowe make.

MORGANTOWN, Jan. 29.—West Virginia's basket tossers today had checked the fast five from Geneva College, sending them down to defeat last night 35 to 26. The Mountaineers defense was tight throughout the contest, and succeeded in holding the Covenanters famed attack at bay, despite the heroic efforts of Captain Montgomery of Geneva, to help his teammates to a victory of scoring 16 points himself. West Virginia seized an early lead and never relinquished it. The score at the half was 14-10 in the Mountaineers favor.

Spring Football At Tech Dropped

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 29.—Voluntarily abandoning spring football practice, athletic authorities at Carnegie Institute of Technology have announced that henceforth the gridiron game will be exclusively a fall sport at the local school.

Effective at once, spring training has been permanently banned, it was announced, and no efforts will be made to develop football material until school resumes in the fall.

Judge Walter P. Steffen, of Chicago, coach of the varsity squad, was one of the sponsors of the plan. Formal action by the college was taken after Judge Steffen had made one of his famed "hurry up" trips here from Chicago to see that some definite action was put forward.

The Spartans face the prospect of engaging in their first game next fall with but two weeks practice behind them, Steffen said.

KEEPING IT HOT

Stove League Gossip

The oldest employee of any ball club in point of service died the other day. His name was Arthur Bell and he was working for the New York Giants about five years before any of the present Giant players were born!

And when Bell died he was still an employee of the Giants as superintendent of the Polo grounds.

Bell was brought from Troy, N. Y., to New York when John B. Day purchased the old Troy National league franchise and moved the team to Gotham. That was in 1883.

Bell watched the Giants win their first big league pennant in 1883 and he was on hand when they won their twelfth and last in 1924.

The old veteran saw 15 managers come and go. He was there when Jim Murtie took over the managerial reins in 1883 and he was still doing his best to help John McGraw and the boys last summer.

Six president came and went during his stay with the New Yorks, but Bell always remained on the payroll.

Though never a big league player Bell probably served a major league ball club longer than any other man.

On the job for the Giants for 47 years he was a true iron man, even if his duties were in the front office instead of down there on the greensward.

A famous ad writer says any man can break the record by keeping at it long enough. This is especially true of the record for longevity.

Tiff Denton clinched fifth place in the world's three-cushion championship by beating Jess Jacobs 50 to 44 in 49 innings at Chicago last night. He also established a high run for the tournament. He clicked off a cluster of 11 in the 20th inning.

When Willie Stirling was informed Max Schmeling had said he would defeat Stirling, the latter remarked: "What do you expect him to say? Well I'd be talking in the ring with the muffs. I am ready for him now." Schmeling and Stirling will fight for the world's heavyweight title in Chicago.

Haaken Hansen, the Chicago middleweight, and his manager, Ed Stevenson, are not getting along like two peas in a pod. Instead there is some sort of a squabble between the two. However, Ed believes Haaken is a good fighter and will probably hold him to his contract.

Charles Schmidt, who rode to fame with the Tigers in two world series, will attempt to beat his way back at the age of 50 to a position as a playing manager. He is at Fort Smith, Mo., at present where he is trying to land the management of the Western association club.

Joe Smith, manager, and Tommy Loughran are under suspension in Pennsylvania. After Loughran and Jack Gross had finished their fight at Philadelphia, Loughran and Smith rushed across the ring to where Fran Wiener, commissioner, sat and complained about the decision. The commission lost no time jolting the pair.

Westminster Quintet Idle Till February

Allegheny College Will Be Next Foe For Westminster At Meadville

Semester Examinations Will Occupy Time Until Floor-men Resume Activities

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 29.—Defeated for the first time this season when the rapidly improving Geneva five proved a tartar on Monday night at New Brighton, the Westminster College basketball team will, with the rest of the students, concentrate on first semester final examinations the rest of the week and will not see action again until February 7 when Allegheny will be met at Meadville.

The defeat at the hands of Geneva on Monday was a hard one to take, but the Covenantors deserved victory with their "heads-up" style of play. Whatever it was that spoiled the teamwork of the Beaver Falls school at the start of the season, the fact remains that Loeffler's quintet has found itself and will figure high in the district rating.

Allegheny, defeated at New Wilmington after playing a strenuous game against Grove City the night previous, will be in much better shape when the Titans visit Meadville on February 7. As a result, Dick Baker's team is given an excellent chance to turn the tables. Allegheny, the victim of a bunched schedule, is also a team which will bear watching.

On February 10, Westminster and Geneva tangle on the New Wilmington floor in a game that now takes on considerable significance. The Covenantors have not defeated Westminster twice in a season for six years, and the Titans will have to play in championship style to keep them from doing it this season.

Offensively Weak Westminster has looked weak of-ensively in the last two games. Against Thiel on Saturday night the Blue and White outfit had 63 shots at the basket and made good only nine. Against Geneva on Monday night, the Titans had 53 shots at the basket and tallied only seven field goals. Thus 16 field goals have been made in two games out of 116 chances, a very poor average.

Coach "Pops" Harrison has indicated that there will be considerable shake-up in the Titan lineup, with the forward positions open to any two of the six men who can find the hoops. The play of Captain Rice and Marsh Fisher at guard has stood out, keeping the opponents from scoring lop-sided victories. If the forwards return to the form exhibited in the Allegheny contest, the Titans will again swing into the victory column.

A year or more ago city council instructed the city engineers to stake out Dean park so it could be used for an athletic field. It would make an ideal baseball park. There are not any too many baseball fields here. It would not be a poor idea for council to put the field in order so boys can use it.

Conger Defeats Dr. Paul Martin

Ray Conger, Iowa, Defeats Swiss Doctor In 100-Yard Indoor Sprint

MARTIN FINISHES A POOR THIRD

By COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Foreign invaders in American sport got off to a bad start today in their 1931 campaigns. Dr. Paul Martin, the surgical Swiss, was somewhat at fault in diagnosis of the situation in the 100-yard event headlining the Newark Athletic club's annual spin on the boards last night and fell a victim to the better legs and judgment of Ray Conger, the Iowa schoolmaster of Chicago.

Dr. Martin elected to trail it along, taking in the scenery as he toured, but when the time came for putting on the juice it was apparent that his batteries were dry and hot. He had given until it hurt and the final spurt on which he depended was evidently somewhere in the Alps.

Legs Going Bad
The European, now 29 years old, showed last night he was feeling his age in his legs if not in his heart and the famed Swiss movement appeared fairly due for a dusting off by the old watch mender.

As a matter of cruel facts, Dr. Martin heaved in a poor third and Frank Cordell, the former Philadelphia schoolboy, now of New York University, who finished second gave Conger the only competition. The Iowa's time was two minutes 17 9-10 seconds.

Conger justified his title as America's outstanding miler in his winning effort. He showed splendid form and ran a beautifully paced race, letting loose with his famed sprint in the last lap to overhaul Cordell.

It was the fifth time Conger and Martin had clashed and the second instance in which the Swiss had been given a complete back view of the heels of the mid-western. Conger beat him previously in the Brooklyn 1000. Conger now is conceded a good chance to take permanent possession of the Rodman Wanamaker cup. He has two legs on it now and will attempt annexation here next month at the Millrose games.

EDDIE SHEA

VETERAN CHICAGO FEATHERWEIGHT WHO CONQUERED LA BARBA AND BATTALINO THE CHAMPION, IN RECENT BOUTS

By JACK SORDS
Central Press Sports Cartoonist-Writer

Having licked the featherweight champion and the outstanding contender for that title, Eddie Shea, fighting little Chicagoan, still sports a topknot bare of crown or diadem.

Shea's rise in the featherweight ranks, in the last few months, has been most sensational, but so far it has not borne true reward in the shape of a title.

Eddie's current mercurial campaign originated through a licking at the hands of Earl Mastro. Unable to get further Chicago bouts because of his defeat, Eddie went into the tall grass and started smacking over all opponents in hope of rebuilding his rep.

Shea's campaign brought him up to a battle with Benny Br., world's junior lightweight titleholder. Shea beat him. He also defeated Fidel La Barba, who was fresh from a victory over Kid Chocolate and who was at that time regarded as sure successor to Battling Battalino, the feather king.

Shea's two victories brought him an overweight match in Chicago with Battalino. Eddie defeated HIM. But the crown was not at stake.

Champion or not, this Shea kid looks like the stuff.

Three Fast Games On "Y" Floor On Wednesday Night

St. Paul's Lutherans, Sacred Hearts And St. Mary's Reserves Victors

Three fast games were played on the Y. M. C. A. floor on Wednesday night. The games were all close and hard fought with two of them being decided in the closing minutes of play.

In the first game the St. Paul's Lutherans just barely managed to get under the wire with a 26 to 25 victory over the Second U. P. in a great battle. The Second U. P. team had a big lead in the first half, but this was wiped out by the St. Paul boys in the second half. The stars of the game were: F. Figley, Snyder, Rogers, Kildoo and Melder.

The Sacred Hearts just beat out the Y. M. C. A. team 30 to 27 in a fine game. It was a nip and tuck battle all the way with a great exhibition of foul shooting. The stars of the game were J. Slosernick, Cheney, DeMuccio and V. Bongevino.

The final game in the card found the St. Mary's Reserves too strong for the Finnish Lutherans, 23 to 15. The Saints looked very impressive in their victory. The stars of the game were Ruha, L. Reiber, and Tyrell.

Cubs Need New Outfielder To Be Up In Race

Manager Hornsby, Seeks Good Outfielder—May Switch Wilson To Left Field

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The latest communique from Rogers Hornsby reveals that the Chicago Cubs, in common with the New York Giants and the St. Louis Cardinals are sorely in need of another high-class outfielder.

This program leaves the right field assignment open to Danny Taylor, who played left field part of last season, and Johnny Moore, hard-hitting rookie from Los Angeles. Riggs (Boss) Stephenson, for years the third member of Chicago's famous picket line, has slowed up considerably due to leg and arm injuries and will be used mainly as a pinch hitter.

Taylor batted only 283 last season. If Moore can better that pace, he will land a regular berth.

Of course there is Vince Barton, the outfielder whose purchase from Baltimore is said to have cost Chicago from $30,000 to $40,000. But inquiry revealed that first base is Barton's natural position, and it is believed he will be groomed to replace the veteran Charley Grimm if the Cubs are unable to lure Jim Bottomly away from the Cardinals.

Industrials And Utilities At Slightly Lower Levels

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The Industrial stocks and utilities settled down to a slightly lower level of prices this morning in a dull and featureless market. Exceptions were found in the mail-order stocks and Specialties, the former being helped by the favorable fourth-quarter report of the Montgomery Ward organization, which earned $3,417,000 in the last three months of 1930.

Bears in the stock market resumed their hammering of the Industrial favorites in the first hour, but made little progress other than forcing U. S. Steel, Standard Oil of N. J. and American Can to a fractionally lower level.

Studebaker was pried loose from its moorings and dropped through to 20½, but the balance of the Motor group was in good form. General Motors holding around 37½. Auburn Auto, the prize performer of the manipulated automobile stocks, was comparatively quiet, and moved through a narrow price range. Montgomery Ward pushed up 1½ to 20½. Sears Roebuck gained about 2 points at 51½ and Standard Brands sold fractionally higher. Standard Oil of New Jersey broke under 47 for the first time on the present move and the Independent Oil was unsettled. Call money was unchanged at 1½ per cent.

SANTA ROSA, Calif., Jan. 29.—While hunting wild hogs near here three minnows were treed for half an hour by a maddened wild hog.

Lawrence McCollum, his 13-year-old son, Lawrence, Jr., and Reuben Batt were forced to take to the tree when the hog, after being wounded, charged them. The 175-pound animal first charged the dogs and then took after the three hunters who scrambled to safety. It was finally killed.

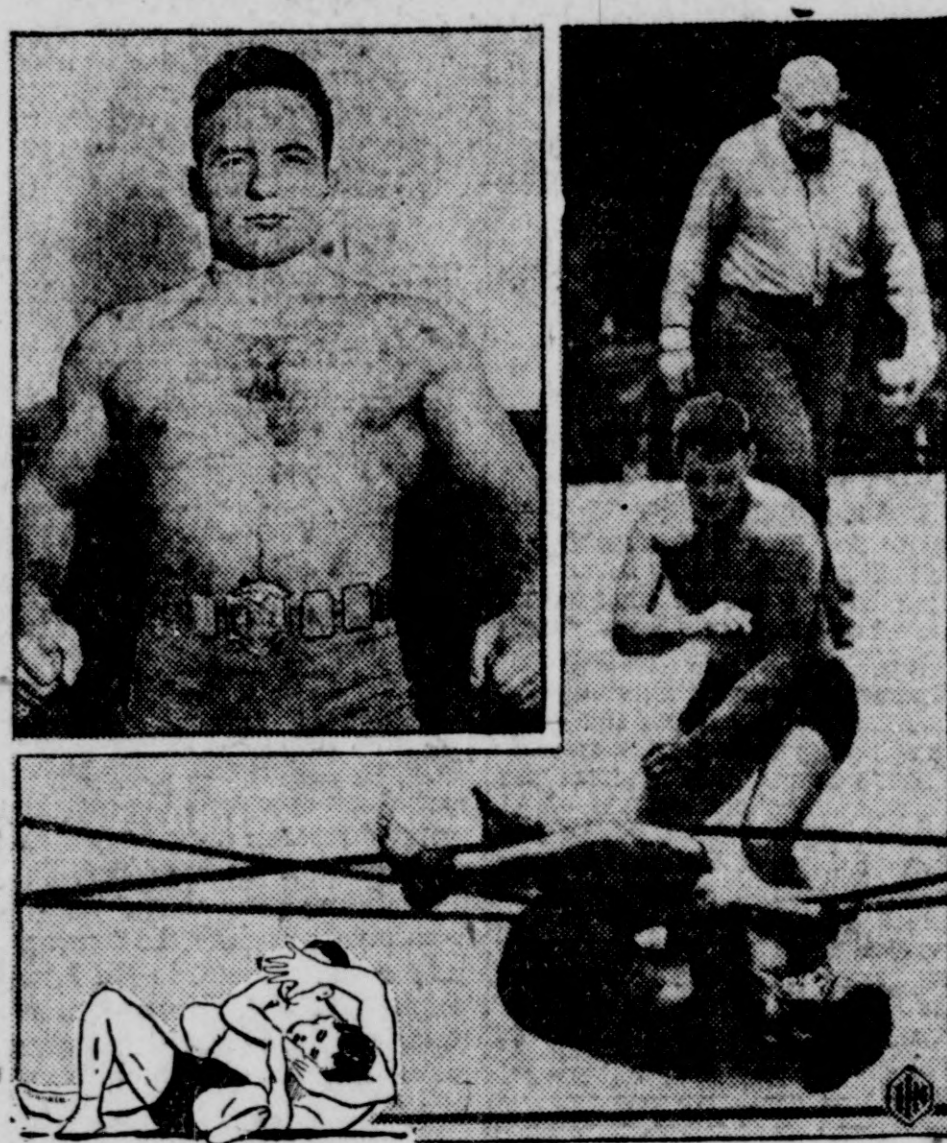

Child Labor Day will be celebrated January 24 and 25.

Guarding 2 Held in Killing

Deputy sheriffs, armed with shotguns, stood constantly on duty at the doors of the Bucyrus, O., jail to protect Walter and Blanton Ralls, two alleged chicken thieves, against the anger of a mob that sought to lynch the prisoners, who are held on a charge of murdering Sheriff George Davenport (inset).

Londos Proves Title to Belt

For almost an hour Jim McMillen, former University of Illinois football player, made a monkey out of Jim Londos, wrestling champion, in their bout at Madison Square Garden, New York. Then Londos came out on top, in spite of having been thrown out of the ring as shown above, retaining the championship belt he wears so proudly in the inset.

Make a gravy of the drippings, adding stoned olives to it, and surround the duck with a border of green peas.

SPYING ON SPORTS

BY WILLIAM RITT

Central Press Sports Editor

Though not heavyweight champion—by virtue of his own mistakes—Jack Sharkey, the babbling Bostonian, will have a higher income tax to pay this year than any other fighting man in the world.

Mr. Sharkey is almost sure not to be the biggest money maker in the fight business this year, however. He is, apparently, headed nowhere and getting there rapidly, as far as a crack at the heavyweight crown is concerned. But last season! Not even Max Schmeling made as much as the Gob in 1930.

At that Sharkey fought only twice. The first affair was with England's famous falling fireman, Phil (Slumber Hour) Scott, at Miami For forcing Phil to cry "Uncle!" while resting on knee, Jack pocketed $40,000.

Then, in June, in the now historic Battle of the Yankee stadium, Jack gleaned $178,000 for his share of the fight in which he fouled Schmeling into a world championship. That totals $218,000 on anyone's cash register.

These figures are found in a set of interesting statistics which reveal that in 11 fights under the auspices of Madison Square Garden, the Gob showed to $3,199,000 worth of fight fans. Since Jack has never been exactly the idol of the pugilistic populace, it is pretty safe to assume that about $3,000,000 of that sum was spent to see the talkative tar get his block knocked off.

Sharkey early learned the truism that if you can't have the fans red hot for you it is far better to have them hating you than regarding you as just a pretty good fellow. The fight fans have always regarded Tom Heeney as a pretty nice young gent but when he fought Tunney the boys failed to rush to the turnstiles to see Honest Tom.

Sharkey, I now understand, wants the public to like and admire him as they did Jack Dempsey, Babe Ruth, Frank Carlin and other popular idols. Well, when the crowds did not care for Jack in a great big way he was coining plenty of money, and now after he has revealed his gentle personality there just doesn't seem to be any demand for the Gob.

Sharkey will always be counted as one of the big money makers of ring history. He came along just at the right time, sweeping into the

The court held with the mining company. The judges reasoned thus: The party who commits the first breach of a contract cannot maintain an action against the other for a subsequent failure to perform. The fertilizer company by failing to order the rock for two years broke the contract. It is therefore not entitled to damages because the mining company refused to recognize the contract as in force.

Nineteen Under Indictments For Defraud By Mail

R. E. Enright, One-Time Police Commissioner Of New York Is Named

(International News Service)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Jan. 29.—R. E. Enright, one-time police commissioner of New York and John Walton, former governor of Oklahoma, were among 19 persons under federal grand jury indictment today on charges of mail fraud.

S. E. J. Cox, said to have been a former associate of Dr. Frederick A. Cook, and Henry K. Miller, former clergyman and magazine editor, also were among those indicted.

The grand jury returned the indictments in connection with asserted promotional operations of the Universal Oil and Gas Company, a firm which is now defunct. Operations were said to have involved sums totalling $750,000.

Walton is at present a candidate for mayor of Oklahoma City. In 1923 he was elected governor, but was impeached the same year following state-wide Ku Klux Klan disturbances.

Cox was said to have been the head of the company. He was recently acquitted of similar charges in Texas.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

One of the demon news gatherers is showing something new in what the well dressed young man will wear this season. Made the mistake of coming to work this morning with a new pearl grey hat on, and the wind took it for a ride. Landed in a mud puddle and you ought to see the darn thing. Looks like a camouflage gun position.

Get your tickets early for the American Legion National Commander's banquet. In a few weeks they will be hard to find and you won't want to miss it.

January has but two more days to crash through with what was once known as the January Thaw. This year there isn't anything to thaw, and it looks as though the month will have to pass. Remember the days when the Shenango and Neshannock used to play tag with each other in the January thaw, and merchants went to bed wondering if they would be able to get into their basements the next morning without a diving suit?

When the Pymatuning Dam is built all that sort of thing will be history. The basin will be large enough to take all the flood waters pouring into it, up at the headwaters, and instead of rushing down the Shenango in a turbulent flood in January, the flood waters will be held until the following July when we need the water.

And by the way have you noticed that the city water hasn't got that chlorine taste any more?

The Mayor's Committee is looking for a couple of file cases to handle the cards of the organizations. Perhaps you have a couple of old cases laying around loose somewhere, gathering dust. If you have, and you want to help a little, call up Orville Potter and offer to lend them to him, or give them to him.

Some of these days when the sun gets on a regular schedule, Stan Treser will be getting the dirt streets of the city back in shape again. And when he does, I hope he has Reynolds Street from Pollock Avenue to Scioto Street on his list. For the past few months it has resembled a section of battle front with its shell holes, and riding over it is the equal of half an hour's churning.

Leonard Drushel Of Croton Avenue Is Attacked By Animal On Neshannock Avenue

Leonard Drushel of 448 Croton avenue, was bitten by an Airedale dog, owned by a family named Perdue of 407 Neshannock avenue, according to a report made to the police at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon.

According to the report made to the police, the animal bit Drushel four or five times on the left arm above the elbow. He was taken to a doctor for treatment and the owners of the animal were ordered to keep him tied up for a period of ten days, awaiting the outcome of Drushel's injuries.

The dog had no license tag and according to the police, the owner wanted him shot some time ago.

Now there's a camera that takes clear pictures at a range of 250 miles, so the General Staff can get some good action snap shots next time.

Crowd Attends Meeting Held At Hoover Heights

Tabernacle Is Scene Of Very Interesting Missionary Meeting

Congregation in attendance Wednesday evening at the opening service of the annual missionary meetings in the Hoover Heights Tabernacle filled the tabernacle auditorium. After a spirited song service Mrs. Amy Scripture sang "Jesus Calls Us" in her sweet manner.

There was unusual interest as Miss Eva King, missionary to India, gave a graphic description of God's work in that country. Her address was illustrated with stereoscopic views. These showed the result of the gospel on the lives of the natives, some pictures showing depicting the life of natives without knowledge of the gospel as compared with those who have responded to the gospel story. Miss King stressed the value of missionary work among all classes of people, especially among the orphaned and widowed children.

One slide depicted a holy man, who refused to be distracted from his meditation on his God, in a position which made it impossible for him to move. This was done that he might gain favor with the gods and reach heaven. Miss King showed how these people in their superstition and spiritual darkness, yet hungering after an entrance into heaven, put to shame the people of America in their half-hearted pursuit of their Christian profession.

Miss King appealed to her audience to use diligence in Christian living and the urgency of carrying the gospel to the lands, where Christ is unknown.

This evening Rev. G. W. Strohm will give an illustrated message on the Philippine Islands. It is seldom that missionaries are present from their fields, and this affords a rare opportunity of hearing the facts from persons who know what is being done. An afternoon service will be held Friday afternoon when Rev. H. D. Stoddard will speak.

Shipment Of Missouri Rabbits Released In County By Deputy Coen

Another shipment of rabbits was received this week by Deputy Game Commissioner Frank Coen, and the cotton tails have been released for propagation purposes in various sections of the county, Mr. Coe stated. There were 120 rabbits in this shipment, which came from Enon, Missouri.

It is believed that a great many more rabbits were killed in the county than usual last fall, due to the greater number of hunters out, although a complete check has been impossible due to the fact that many hunters failed to send in a report of the amount of game killed.

Soy Beans Profitable For Illinois Farmers

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Jan. 29.—Soy beans were the most profitable crop grown by farmers of Illinois during 1930, according to J. H. Lloyd manager of the Illinois Soy Bean association.

The average price paid was one dollar a bushel for a crop of approximately 5,000,000 bushels. The crop in Iowa and Indiana did not bring as much to the growers of those states as in Illinois, the variation being due, it was said, to activities of co-operative marketing association of Illinois.

When Fish Bite, On Goes The Light

(International News Service)
HARDIN, Mo., Jan. 29.—Now you can go fishing at night and not bother about watching the cork. Cyrus V. See has invented the "Self Lighting Device" which announces in a brilliant gleam of light that a fish has been hooked.

See's device consists of a small flashlight battery attached to the butt end of a fishing pole with wires running to the other end where a flashlight bulb is connected.

When a fish is caught on the hook the bulb flashes and remains lighted until the fish is removed. The device is patented.

Longest Aerial In The World

(International News Service)
TAGUS, Calif., Jan. 29.—Until recently Darrell Pratt, 18, claimed to have one of the longest radio aerials in the world. The mammoth aerial was in use for two weeks. At any hour of the day young Pratt could pick up stations from Chicago and the Atlantic seaboard. The broadcasts came in so loudly that he had to keep the volume control turned completely off.

In the meantime the telephone service at this town was terrible. For two days a trouble shooter was on the job. Finally it was discovered that Pratt had, by mistake, switched wires while working on his radio connection. He had hooked up with the five miles of telephone on his radio connection.

This Great Healing Oil Best For Pimples and Skin Troubles

Make up your mind today that you are going to give your skin a real chance to get well. Go to Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., or any other good druggist today and get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil—an 85 cent bottle lasts 2 weeks.

The very first application will give you relief and a few short treatments will thoroughly convince you that by sticking faithfully to it for a short while your skin troubles will be a thing of the past.

Remember that Moone's Emerald Oil is a clean, powerful, penetrating Antiseptic Oil that does not stain or leave a greasy residue and that it must give complete satisfaction or your money cheerfully refunded.
